THE TORMENTING TRIAL.

The Seventy-second Day of the Great Scandal Suit.

A VITAL POINT TOUCHED

How the Matter Got Into Plymouth Church.

"STEPPING DOWN AND OUT."

What End Beecher Meant It Should Accomplish.

"I Did"—"That's One"—"I Didn't, and That's Two."

Another day was devoted to the cross-examination of Henry Ward Beecher, and yet Mr. Fullerton found that his task was not quite over. It was confidently expected yesterday morning, when the court opened, that ex-Judge Fullerton would surrender his tortured witness at the hour of recess; but the struggle between the witness and the counsel was as determined and unyielding as so the entire day was consumed in the fencing between these two intellectual and highly trained minds. It was a gladiatorial contest in every sense of the word, and, though the actors in the scene did not salute the presiding judge as men about to die, as did the spadatores and retiarii before Cæsar, they entered upon the examination with grim earnestness and evident determination to do or die. This was apparent especially in the morning session, for both men were easily roused in their tempers. The weapons used were as keen as any rapiers, and the passes and guards on the one side or the other gave a deep interest to the proceedings.

The lawyer was, though evidently ill in health, remarkably strong in his method, and perhaps felt the advantage he had gained in making Mr. Beecher fear and dread. If he did feel this advantage it must be confessed that Mr. Fullerton used the power it gave him mercilessly, for there were passages in which Mr. Beecher evidently suffered. It was not that he suffered in being made to confess to damaging facts, for he generally succeeded in avoiding that; but it was in the mental strain placed upon him in being compelled to keep his mind clear under the skilful double thrusts made upon him. He had to watch the counsel keenly, and carry in his mind all of the evidence already given during so many days, and be prepared to enter intelligently and promptly upon any of the many points touched by his examiner. To a man of Mr. Beecher's training and manner of life this cooping up of his faculties and the necessity of waiting for his question, without any idea what it really would be, the cross-examination he has gone through must be exquisite torture. When in Mr. Evarts' hands the witness was at ease, for he knew what each interrogation would lead to, and in answering he was permitted to finish out his sentences in his own way, so that the narrative had a fulness and redundancy natural to him. Besides it was cohesive and symmetrical. But under cross-examination Mr. Beecher finds it wholly different. A question to be answered as he would wish must be answered at the will of the examiner. "Did you or did you not?" was the tenor of Mr. Fullerton's queries, and after vainly endeavoring to give an explanatory answer the witness would say, "I did and I did not." "Did you?" persists Fullerton. "I did," replies Beecher. "That is one," remarks the counsel, "and I didn't," continues the witness, "and that's two." Those last words came defiantly, yet they carried a touch of despair in them as the net was being thrown so skilfully around him.

THE EVIDENCE.

Q. Now, Mr. Beecher, after a night's reflection are you able to state now whether you regarded Mr. Tilton as charging you with having made improper advances to his wife on the night of the 30th December, 1870? A. No, sir.

Q. You did not regard him as having made that charge? A. Not in the strict sense.

Q. Did you regard him as having made that charge in any sense—strict sense or otherwise? A. Yes, in a general way, I did; but if you mean in that language, I should say he did not so charge me, though I supposed he was but repeating his wife's language.

Q. Did he not so charge you in his own behalf? A. No, sir; I don't think so.

Q. Did he not, in so charging you, profess to be the representative of his wife? A. He made no profession of the kind; he mentioned to me that she had made some such charge against me.

Q. Did he not charge you with the offence before referring to any statement that the wife might have made? A. Not in that sense; he said that his wife had made some such statement, and then he proceeded to read it; he charged me, in substance, with acting toward him in an unfriendly spirit; that I assisted in his downfall and spread injurious rumors against him, and with using my place and my influence with Mr. Bowen to dismiss him; that I had joined with his mother-in-law against him, and that I had alienated his wife's affections from him and had led her to love me more than himself; I might add that all this was equivalent to the charge you refer to.

Q. Is that narrative true? A. In general it is; but if you ask me as to the specific charge I say no.

Q. That is not an answer. Is that narrative true? A. Yes, but subject to correction.

Q. Did you regard yourself as being charged with making improper advances? A. I did; with regard to the letter you referred to, it was intended that it should not be made public; that was agreeably to the advice given in the matter.

Q. Have you any further explanation to give in regard to that letter? A. No.

Q. What matters did you think Tilton knew of his own knowledge as against you? A. The distress and trouble wrought in the family, and the trouble and distress between him and Bowen.

Q. Did you think that he knew of his own knowledge that you were the cause of the difficulties in the family? A. I should say he did—that would come within the designation I put upon it; he had charged me with using the great influence of my church against him; that I was making injurious representations of him—that I was the injured man and he the injurer; that I was allowing people to think that he was the injurer and that I magnanimously bore it all.

Q. Had the scandal at that time permeated the church? A. I can't say to what extent, but it was suspected.

Q. What did you think at the time of it? A. I did not know it; I held myself aloof; I was the last person that would know anything about it.

Q. Did you hold yourself aloof on purpose? A. I did and I didn't; I kept myself aloof from it as I had made a compact to do so.

ONE AND TWO.

Q. Do you regard Mr. Tilton and the other side as keeping that compact? A. I did and I didn't—both.

Q. You didn't, then? A. No.

Q. That's one? A. And I did, and that's two.

This attempt at a joke elicited laughter in the Court, which the Judge at once suppressed.

Q. Why did you not in this new phase of the business consult some persons other than the friends of Mr. Tilton with regard to it? A. I was satisfied with the consultation I had.

Q. You still had confidence in him? A. Unbounded.

Q. Well, if guilty of no improper advances and regarding yourself as amenable only to the charge of turning this woman's affections, which was innocently done, why did not you make the statement of that fact so as to satisfy the public in regard to this matter? A. That is the very thing Mr. Moulton insisted ought not to be done; that could not be touched at all without opening and going into an investigation, which would be injurious all around; I thought it would be to me.

Q. And did not Mr. Moulton regard charges against you of a more serious character than improper solicitations? A. I don't think he did; I don't know what he thought, but he never made manifestations of any other character to me.

Q. He never spoke to you of a charge more serious than improper solicitations? A. He did not to me even of that.

Q. What did you suppose Moulton believed in regard to the scandal? A. That he believed there had been a difficulty, and that at different times I thought he had different notions in his head about it; I never asked him about it and he never told me of it.

Q. How is it that you never sought to learn from this man what his conclusions were in regard to it? A. I learned enough of them for all the purposes I had in view.

Q. Did you not wish to vindicate yourself in his opinion? A. I had vindicated myself; I was an inmate of his family, his personal friend, he admitted me to his wife's confidence, and I didn't want anything better.

Q. Did you mean even if he believed you guilty of improper advances? A. He could not believe such a thing; I could not expect it from his conduct; his whole conduct to me was that of a man who believed me innocent.

Q. In all his conduct resulting from different conferences you never asked him the question whether he believed you guilty or not? A. I never did.

Q. You never wished to find out? A. I already knew.

Q. Now, in that letter of February 5 you stated as follows:—"To say that I have a church on my hands is simple enough, but to have the hundreds and thousands of men pressing me, each with his keen suspicion, or anxiety, or zeal; to see tendencies which, if not stopped, would break out into a ruinous defence of me; to stop them without seeming to do it; to prevent any one questioning me; to meet and allay prejudices against Theodore, which had their beginning years before this; to keep serene, as if I was not alarmed or disturbed; to be cheerful at home and among friends, when I was suffering the torments of the damned; to pass sleepless nights often, and yet to come up fresh and full for Sunday—all this may be talked about, but the real thing cannot be understood from the outside, nor its wearing and grinding on the nervous system." Now, let me ask you what was the "keen suspicion" you apprehended that each one of these persons had? A. Will you allow me a copy of the document you have? I think I have it in my satchel; I believe that was February 5, 1872; I did not say each one with his keen suspicion as if each one of all the hundreds had

THIS KEEN SUSPICION.

Q. I ask you what you apprehended from the keen suspicion that was indulged in? A. The suspicion which some of them had of those hundreds and thousands of men.

Q. Suspicion of what? A. Of my moral conduct and character.

Q. Did you want to clear up that suspicion? A. I wanted to have it cured unquestionably.

Q. Did you expect to cure it by silence? A. I did; but I felt, if the worst came to the worst, I should have to vindicate myself.

Q. What was the worst that could come? A. My life; I could kill it by my life if I was suffered to go right on.

Q. Then by silence and going right on you meant to have this keen suspicion quieted? A. I meant by my life to let it die out.

Q. Not by telling the truth? A. By not speaking a lie, yet at the same time respecting these things.

Q. I read still further—"If my destruction would place him all right that shall not stand in the way. I am willing to step down and out. No one can offer more than that; that I do offer. Sacrifice me without hesitation, if you can clearly see your way to his happiness and safety thereby." Then you expected to get rid of that keen suspicion which was then afloat in your church by stepping down and out? A. No.

Q. You were willing to be sacrificed, were you, if you could see thereby the safety and happiness of Mr. Tilton? A. "If;" it is conditional; "if my destruction would place him all right;" I state it and then I answer it.

Q. Then you were willing to be destroyed yourself in order to save him? A. That was the feeling I had, extravagantly expressed.

Q. The feeling you expressed was that you were willing to be destroyed rather than meet the keen suspicion of your congregation? A. Not at all; the keen suspicion afloat among the congregation was respecting rumors set afloat by Bowen.

Q. And had no reference to Tilton? A. That might have been drawn in, but that was not the principal trouble.

Q. You say again, "Sacrifice me without hesitation if you can clearly see your way to his safety and happiness." Was that Mr. Bowen or Tilton's happiness you had reference to? A. To any occasion which would bring the matter before the church; would bring all out that we had determined to keep secret; I thought I should have to meet a divided church, with a party on the side of Mr. Bowen, with a large party of young men on the side of Tilton, and with a very large class—always in a church—very sensitive to any deficiency on the part of a minister who is in charge; I thought no tribunal on earth was so unfit to investigate it as a Congregational church, and I believed at that time and for a long time that a conflagration would follow that would consume the church; I thought, not in the form of a deliberate conclusion, if the charge was made against me in that great church in which I was struggling; that if I had permitted to go out from it injurious statements and criticisms of Mr. Tilton; that I was not sufficiently careful about it.

Q. You were willing to be sacrificed and to rest under the suspicion rather than have the charges investigated by the church? A. That was not the point of the sacrifice.

Q. What did you mean by the expression that you were willing resign your pastorate? A. The whole passage has but one meaning.

TO STEP DOWN AND OUT?

Q. Did you mean by that phrase, "step down and out," that you were willing to resign your pastorate? A. Yes, sir, conditionally.

Q. And at that time, actuated to this extent, the only offence you regarded yourself as having committed, was that you had unconsciously won this woman's affections? A. No. That was not the way it presented itself to me; by unconsciously winning her affections I had destroyed her and the household of the man at its head, and I looked at it in its whole aspect in that way.

Q. You say, "I am well nigh discouraged; if you cease to trust me and love me I am alone. I have not another person in the world to whom I could go." Why could you not go to some relative, or some friend, or some member of the congregation and explain all this thing? A. I could on the condition that it was to be exposed to the public, but if it was not to be I could not maintain my honor and pledge of keeping this thing silent and speaking of it. I had no one else to go to but him, and I did not go to any one else.

Q. When did you first hear the "true story" read? A. Some time in November or December; some time after the publication of the Woodhull scandal.

Q. I understood you to say that when that story was read to you, or that passage that was read to you, that he (Tilton) asked you whether you would be able to stand a particular passage that he would read to you? A. No, sir, he did not say so, and I did not say so.

Q. What did you say on that subject? A. He said, before he began to read, that there was one sentence which he would read, and if I could stand it that I could stand the whole, and then he went on and read, and when he came to the sentence and read it he told me that was the sentence; I thought myself when he read that that if I could stand it I could stand the whole.

Q. I read now from your direct examination—"Mr. Tilton began to read; I was sitting on the sofa; he fixed the paper and opened the matter by saying here was one sentence in it and if I could stand it I could stand the whole statement or document; he commenced reading what was afterward called the 'true story,' and read the passage where I was charged with asking Mrs. Tilton to be a wife to me, with all that the name imports in that term, and he looked up and said, 'That's the sentence, and if you can stand that you can stand all the rest;' I made no reply; I was lying on the bed and I think he went on reading and I was getting madder and madder, and when he finished I got up and commenced walking around the room." Now is that a true narrative of what occurred on that occasion? A. It is substantially true, sir; on that occasion I did not arise and repel the charge thus made against me; that is not my habit of mind or method of dealing with persons or things.

Q. Did you at that time understand the full meaning of the

LETTER OF APOLOGY?

A. Not in the full sense.

Q. Did you, in the conversation with Moulton with regard to the letter of apology, suggest that Mr. Moulton should go and see Kinsella with regard to its publication? A. Ah! that was a suggestion as to the line of conduct; I took steps to prevent the publication of that letter.

Q. What steps did you take to prevent its publication? A. I said to Mr. Moulton substantially this, that "if that is published that is the end of things and there will be an explosion. If you don't want that, then that must not be published," and he thought he—he told me he could hold Mr. Tilton and prevent the publication of it; I doubted it and I said to him, "If you trust to Mr. Tilton he will cheat you," or words to that effect; he thought not; he thought he had got a hold upon him—that he could control him; he said, "No, he won't publish it to-day;" said I, "you had better make that thing sure"—words to that effect—"but you had better go down and see Mr. Kinsella and see that he don't publish it until you have had time to turn this point."

Q. Did I understand you to say that if the card drawn up in that connection was published you would resign your pastorate? A. I drew up the card, or rather the declination of further pastorate and put it in my pocket, and that evening when I went to Moulton's house I showed it to him.

Q. Will you produce that card of resignation? A. I cannot; I have not got it; I don't recollect seeing it since the evening I showed it to Mr. Moulton.

Q. Now, referring to the statement you made to the church Investigating Committee, you said:—"I wrote a letter of resignation, not referring to charges against me, but declaring I had striven for years to maintain secrecy concerning this scandal affecting a family in the church, and that as I had fallen I herewith resigned. This letter was never sent." A. Evidently then I had it, but I had forgotten that I had it; but it passed out of my hands and I never have seen it from that day to this, although I have made a thorough search for every paper that bears on the case; I do not say I gave it to Mr. Moulton; my impression is I did not—that I put it in my pocket again.

Q. Where did you see Mrs. Moulton that Saturday morning? A. In her own house; the interview did not last more than fifteen or twenty minutes; I was in great indignation of mind at the time.

A LITTLE STORM.

Q. How did you manifest your indignation on that occasion? A. In words and conduct; I walked up and down; I denounced Tilton; I said that I had gone through enough in attempting to keep this matter quiet, and that I was met with treachery by him; he was insisting all the time in one way and another to bring it out; I told Mr. Moulton my belief was that Theodore wanted the credit of being a hero, and he wanted somebody to go out before the public as connected with the trouble in his family, that he might appear as having kept it a secret—that he had been the sole sufferer; in fact, that it was a making business; I said I could not stand it any longer; that I believed him to be

ROTTEN TO THE ROOTS.

Q. Did you lay down on the sofa that morning? A. No, I bore down on Tilton.

Mr. Fullerton—That will do. You cannot make use of such observations here; they excite discussion.

Q. Did you at any time lay down on the sofa in presence of Mrs. Moulton? A. At that time I did not.

Q. Did she at any time cover you with an Afghan on the sofa? A. Oh, yes, at least a dozen times, I should think; I will not make it precise, but it was not uncommon for me when I was waiting for Mr. Moulton to lie down on the sofa, and sometimes took a newspaper and threw it over my feet; if you will allow me to say, since I have been afflicted with hay fever I cannot lie down on the sofa without having my feet get cold and have a fit of sneezing, and so I often throw something over my feet; she saw it, and it was a very common thing for her to throw a little shawl over my feet.

Q. How many times was it? A. Well, I don't know but what it was—in the many times I was there it became a habit of hers to do some little kindness of that kind.

Q. Were you on that particular evening lying on the sofa? A. No, sir; I was sitting at a table.

Q. Did you ever use the expression to Mrs. Moulton, or its equivalent, that she seemed to you like a section of

THE DAY OF JUDGMENT?

A. No, sir; I won't say that I did not say something akin to it.

Q. Speaking of the West charges, I read as follows—do you recollect anything of this kind:—"I felt that he had no right to a claim as a member under the circumstances for the sole purpose of his public trial. Mr. Moulton insisted that everything must be done to prevent that trial, as the committee were likely to be divided whether the facts sustained Mr. Tilton's plea, whether he was out of the church or not; I was so determined to carry out my pledges to Mr. Moulton to do all in my power to save him, that I was ready to resign and stop the scandal, and I wrote a letter of resignation, not in regard to the charge, but because I had intended, for the sake of others, to maintain secrecy?" A. That evidently refers to the letter of May 31.

Q. At the time you wrote the letter of resignation did you know that the West charges were prepared? A. I don't think I did, though I recollect saying that, on certain contingencies, I should resign; I do not think I told Mr. Bell to break up the deacon's meeting; I do not think I heard that Mrs. Bradshaw was to be a witness in the charges against Tilton.

Mr. Fullerton read the third specification in the West charges, and Mr. Beecher said he never was made acquainted with that charge or that specification; nobody ever told me, he said, about that charge that I remember; there was a charge that Tilton had stated that I had criminal intercourse with his wife; such a charge would make an impression on my mind; I have spoken of the 2d of June; Mr. Kinsella came to my house that day; it was arranged between me and Mr. Moulton that Mr. Kinsella was to come to me on that day; I had an interview with Mr. Kinsella; I prepared the card that was published in the afternoon of that day; I went to the Christian Union office; I do not remember taking lunch that day in New York; it was my custom to take lunch before going to Peekskill; I have lunched at Delmonico's and other places in New York; I swear positively that I was not at Mr. Moulton's house on the 2d of June; I have no recollection about that time of seeing a lady as I was leaving Mr. Moulton's house—there might have been ladies in the street; I will swear that I was not in Mr. Moulton's house on the 2d of June, 1873, and that I did not meet a lady as I was coming out; I think the Investigating Committee was appointed 28th of June, 1874; I made no request to have it concealed; it was appointed at my house; I spoke to Mr. Cleveland first on the 28th of June, 1874, the day after the publication of the Bacon letter; in the evening I saw Mr. Shearman and Mr. Tracy; I first suggested the but subsequently the names of the committee were suggested by others; Mr. Moulton had a plan for doing away with the effect of the publication of the Bacon letter, but I did not approve of it; I had come to the end; I had ceased to have faith in his generalship; I did not trust his judgment.

Mr. Beecher was then questioned as to his walks with Mrs. Tilton. He thought it was probably in the fall of 1871; on one occasion he walked with her on Columbia Heights at sundown; on another occasion he walked with her toward her own house, probably four or five blocks; cannot say what time in the day it was—probably in the afternoon; cannot recall any other walks; conversed with Mrs. Tilton on three occasions; did not seek from her any explanation of the scandal; I have no recollection of writing to Mrs. Tilton on the occasion of the buggy ride; I do not recollect being in a photograph gallery with her in New York; she was not at Sarony's with me when my picture was being taken.

The Court here took a recess until two o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

Mr. Beecher's cross-examination was resumed by Mr. Fullerton at twenty minutes after two o'clock. Mr. Beecher said:—

I do not recollect walking in New York in 1871 with Mrs. Tilton; I do not recollect being in an oyster saloon with her; to the best of my recollection no such thing ever occurred; in these walks I did not admonish her against allowing her affections to be directed toward me; I did not warn her, but thought that by bringing moral influences to bear upon her it would prevent those affections from being directed toward me; I was not made acquainted with Bessie Turner's going away; I do not recollect when I first paid out any money on account of Bessie Turner; I can tell by looking at my memorandum; I made an advance on her account; I keep a check book; I have not seen the check book that I kept at that time; I have not seen the stub of the check book (check produced); this is one of the checks I gave Mr. Moulton for it was represented to me that money was due for Bessie Turner's education; Mr. Moulton said it would relieve Mr. Tilton if the money was advanced; I was willing to pay the check; there was no threat about it; I did it as an office of kindness; I did not regard it as blackmail; in some part of my interview with Mr. Moulton I suggested that there might be need of assistance to Mr. Tilton as regards the mortgage on his house; I do not recollect what was said at the time of advancing the money except stating that the money was needed, and I gave the checks; I understood at the time the money was to pay for the education of Bessie Turner; I do not recollect seeing a bill of $500 for Bessie Turner's schooling; I do not remember Moulton stating any other object for the money but the schooling of Bessie Turner; the giving of this money was suggested by Mr. Moulton in the most delicate manner, and I gave it, feeling that I was co-operating with him; I have kept no account of this money; I have never kept an account in my life; there was never a suggestion on my part to giving assistance to Tilton; in a general conversation with me Mr. Moulton said there was a mortgage upon Mr. Tilton's house, and I said that if any effort was made to take up the mortgage I would stand in my place and would do my part; Mr. Moulton did not suggest to me to take up the mortgage; I brought the subject up to Moulton's consideration, fearing he might have forgotten it; before paying over the $5,000 to Mr. Tilton, there were conversations between me and Mr. Moulton as to the state of the Golden Age; that money was necessary to pay for paper; Mr. Moulton drew out a letter from his pocket and read some extracts from it, which were some statements that a check of $2,000 had been sent to the Golden Age and some time bills; and having referred to these checks he said, "That is what I call friendship;" I took an interest in the Golden Age, and so did Mr. Moulton; I do not think Mr. Moulton intended any hint, but I took a hint after I went home; Mr. Moulton did not express a wish that I should contribute money to the

this $5,000 was not given by me for the purpose of settling the difficulty between Tilton and myself; if I understood that the money was to have been paid to settle the difficulty I would not have paid a cent, if I had been killed for it.

Mr. Fullerton read from a printed statement to the effect that Mr. Beecher had said before the Investigating Committee that the payment of $5,000 would have been the settlement of the whole thing.

Mr. Beecher presumed that that was substantially what he said; he presumed he said he was ready to pay $5,000; he could not say how long after Mr. Moulton showed him the time drafts that he (Mr. Beecher) raised the $5,000; thinks it was within a few days; told Moulton he was going to raise the $5,000, and then brought it to him; did not regard that as blackmail.

Q. Well, did you think that was obtained from you by Mr. Moulton in any improper way? A. That was not my feeling then at all, sir.

Q. You did not regard it as blackmail? A. I did not.

Q. Well, when Mr. Moulton got the $5,000 from you did he not tell you he should not tell Mr. Tilton where it came from? A. I don't recall about that.

Q. Don't you think something took place upon that subject? A. All I recall now is that

HE SHOULD FEED IT OUT TO MR. TILTON, carefully and judiciously.

Q. And you believed he would do so—didn't you? A. I did, sir.

Q. Did you think that Theodore Tilton, up to the time you paid the $5,000, was laying blackmail upon you in any way? A. I can't say I thought so.

Q. Had you any reason to think so? A. I had no reason; I don't know that I had; I may have had the suggestion flit across my mind, but it was nothing that made any serious impression, sir.

Q. We'll leave it there. When did you first become convinced or impressed with the idea that this money had been obtained from you improperly? A. I think it was some time in August, 1874.

Q. And what did you think were the improper means used by Mr. Moulton to get the money from you? A. Well, sir, I did not think—I was not—I could not make myself think he had used any improper means to get money from me.

Q. What means did he use to get money from you which you thought improper? A. He used no means which at the time I deemed were improper.

Q. Did he suggest to you the payment of the money? A. He did not, except in the case of the term bill, but not of the $5,000.

Q. You told me a moment ago that the $2,000 and the $5,000, as I understood you, were paid willingly? A. Willingly.

Q. You sought the opportunity of paying? A. Well, I can't say as to the $5,000.

Q. Didn't you tell us on your direct examination that you chided Mr. Moulton for not calling upon you for aid? A. I did, sir; I told him I thought he was altogether too sensitive.

Q. And, after all, did you believe he had used improper means in taking this money from you? A. I did not, sir; not of my own self.

Q. Somebody else did for you—is that it? A. Well,

I WAS TOLD THAT WAS BLACKMAIL.

Q. No, no; I don't want what anybody else told you. I don't want to get into a controversy with Brother Shearman about it. (Laughter.)

The counsel here requoted from the evidence of Mr. Beecher before the Plymouth church Investigating Committee, as already stated above, adding that part where Mr. Beecher said that after the $5,000 had been paid he felt very much dissatisfied with himself about it.

Q. Now, did that dissatisfaction with yourself arise in 1874, as you have stated, in the month of August? A. Afterward; yes, sir.

Q. In the month of August, 1874? A. Two years before; there are other inaccuracies in that statement.

Q. Well, sir, if it flitted through your mind when you had paid the $2,000 that blackmail was being taken from you, how did it happen you paid the $5,000? A. I didn't consider that as blackmail, sir.

Q. Didn't consider what as blackmail? A. The $5,000.

Q. I didn't ask you that? A. You asked me how I considered it as blackmail when I paid the $5,000.

The question was repeated by Mr. Fullerton.

The Witness—I did not consider that, nor did I consider the other.

Q. Well, we will employ other terms then. If it had been flitting through your mind that perhaps the $2,000 was blackmail, how did it happen that you paid the $5,000 afterward. A. I did not consider that Mr. Moulton, in levying any part of it—

Q. One moment. Just leave out Mr. Moulton, if you please, and everybody else. I am talking about the abstract payment of the money? A. I am talking about the same thing.

Q. I ask the question again (question repeated)? A. Because that did not savor of blackmail to me then; nor did the other until afterward.

Q. After what? A. After I had paid it.

Q. Well, after you had paid the $2,000, did it savor of blackmail? A. The suggestion came afterward.

Q. Well, now, I ask you after those suggestions came to your mind that it was blackmail, how did it happen that you paid further money? A. The suggestion did not come to my mind that the further money was blackmail.

Q. I didn't ask you that.

Judge Neilson—Well, did those suggestions come to your mind until after all the money had been paid over?

The Witness—The suggestion came to me in this form:—That Mr. Moulton was pursuing a course of perfect uprightness, but Mr. Tilton was in a position in which he was willing to use my help for himself, and when Mr. Moulton represented the great advantage which would be had in setting the Golden Age free from all its difficulties by immediate and liberal contributions, and ending therefore its difficulties, I had not the slightest thought it was blackmail.

Q. Now, I repeat the question—If the thought flitted through your mind that the $2,000 savored of blackmail, why did you pay the $5,000? A. Because, sir, I didn't think that that savored of blackmail.

Q. You told me a moment ago that if you had any idea that the contributions savored of blackmail you would not have paid them at all? A. I did not think that it savored of blackmail at all until after they had been paid.

Q. The $2,000 you thought savored of blackmail? A. No, I did not.

Q. Did it occur to you, or did the thought come to you, or come to your mind in any way, that the $2,000 savored of blackmail before you paid the $5,000? A. Not under that designation, sir.

Q. Well, under what designation? A. I do not think that the thought of blackmail came to me until after the committee's investigation in 1874; I did not put that name on, but it was put on, and I spoke of it because we were counseling on the subject and I called it by the name I heard it called.

WHO SUGGESTED BLACKMAIL?

Q. Now, who put it out? A. I don't know which of them.

Q. Well, tell us who were there and let them divide the honors (laughter); where was it and who were present? A. I don't know any particular interview that I can designate.

Q. Tell me, Mr. Beecher, if you please, who it was that suggested to you that the payment of this money was blackmail? A. I think Mr. Shearman will have to take part of it, won't he?

Q. I think so, perhaps the whole of it? A. No.

Q. Who else? A. I suspect it must have been General Tracy.

Q. Did you think it was beaten into you by sound argument? A. Well, I don't think it was by argument exactly.

Q. Well, has it stayed in you ever since you came to believe it was blackmail? A.

I FALL FROM GRACE ONCE IN A WHILE and recover again.

Q. Well, recover as best you can and tell me whether you believe now that Francis D. Moulton intended to blackmail you in obtaining these sums of money from you? A. I have never yet——

Q. Tell me whether you believe it now? A. I was going to tell you.

Q. You can say "Yes" or "No." A. Just now I have no thought about it. In the matter in the confusion and excitement of your question that does not rest as a matter upon my mind.

Q. Now I want to know upon what, therefore, your suggestions rest that it might be probable that he levied blackmail upon you? A. It is upon the representation that on such a man as I am the way to levy blackmail is not to intimidate him, but to work upon his kindlier feelings by the utmost delicacy, and with such delicate touches my feelings were wrought upon, they knowing my generosity was a weakness, and so the money was obtained

BY MORAL BLACKMAIL.

Q. By moral blackmail? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is that the way the lawyers argued it with you? A. Pretty much that way.

Q. That's the way they beat it into you? A. That's pretty much the way they rubbed it into me.

Q. Mr. Beecher, your answer to the question which I put to you whether you now believe that Francis D. Moulton intended to levy blackmail upon you, has not been answered satisfactorily to my associates, and I put it to you again as to your present belief? A. Well, sir, if you mean by blackmail that he levied contributions for his own advantage on me I do not think he did; but if you mean that he levied money upon me, using my generous feelings as the instrumentality for the benefit of Mr. Tilton, I think he did.

Q. Did you not hear from various quarters that Mr. Moulton was condemned in unmeasured terms for having levied blackmail upon you? A. Not much; I was out of town at the White Mountains; I don't recollect hearing of it there.

Q. Well, what occurred in October, 1874, which brought you to the conclusion that that was blackmail? A. The same thing that operated in the beginning.

Q. Talk to Mr. Tracy and Mr. Shearman? A. Mr. Tracy and Mr. Shearman and Mr. Winslow and Mr. Sage and Mr. Storrs and Mr. Cleaveland, and whom else did I talk to? I know I didn't talk to anybody about those times; they didn't push me in that direction; I can't say I talked to them all, but I think it quite likely; I recollect talking with Mr. Sage and I think with Mr. Winslow; Mr. Winslow is a lawyer and I think he thought it was blackmail; I also talked with W. O. Bartlett, of New York.

Q. You talked with these men after they were put on the committee, did you? A. Yes.

Q. And they insisted upon it to you that this was blackmail? A. Members of the committee I don't think I talked with so much as I did with the lawyers for the committee.

Q. Well, what members of the committee did you talk with about this blackmail? A. If I were to say more certainly than any others, I should say with Mr. Cleaveland and Mr. Sage; it is quite possible that I talked with Mr. Storrs about it, although I don't recollect it distinctly.

Q. This was before evidence was taken before the committee, was it not? A. It was while the committee were taking the evidence.

Q. Was it before your evidence was taken? A. I can't say positively.

Q. What is your best recollection about it? A. I talked also with Mr. Ross W. Raymond, and his hand was always very heavy upon me.

Q. You had

A HARD TIME OF IT,

no doubt? (Laughter.) A. I did.

Q. Now, hadn't you stated facts to Mr. Cleaveland before the committee was formed? A. What facts?

Q. In regard to the payment of this money? A. I presume I did, but can't say.

Q. Didn't he express an opinion before he was put upon the committee? A. I can't say; I made some statements of some facts connected with the case to him before he was appointed on the committee.

Q. Did he express an opinion upon those facts which you thus stated? A. On some of them he did.

Q. And what opinion did he express? A. I don't recall it, sir.

Q. Was it favorable or unfavorable to you? A. Oh, it was probably favorable to me; he was a good, sensible man. (Laughter.)

Q. Upon what subject did he express a favorable opinion? A. I don't recall the subjects that came up for consideration.

Q. Well, the subject was this difficulty, wasn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Therefore you got the opinion and the judgment of one of the committee men before you appointed him on that committee? A. Not upon the whole case.

Q. Well, a part of it? A. Upon some facts in it.

Q. A good thing, no doubt? A. Oh, I was only too glad to get any ideas.

Q. But were you too glad to get a man who had expressed an opinion beforehand? A. I was very glad to get a man who had an opinion worthy to be expressed.

Q. Now, was Mr. Sage on this committee? A. He was.

Q. Did you talk to him before he was appointed? A. I don't think I did.

Q. Afterwards? A. I did.

Q. Before your statement was made? A. I think it was after my statement was made, but I won't be definite about that; I was not present when the committee's report was read; I was afterward informed by Ross Raymond that it was a triumphal acquittal of me; I never read it or heard it or had it stated to me by analysis.

Witness was asked to give the names of the committee, and having done so said that it was only by special providence that he was enabled to remember them. Mr. Fullerton intimated that it would have been better if his memory had been helped before.

The counsel then produced the copy of Mr. Beecher's sermons and pointed out for the recognition of Mr. Beecher a sermon of October 4, 1868, entitled "The Nobility of Confession."

Mr. Shearman, in an undertone, made some remark to Mr. Fullerton about preaching, and the latter retorted, "he might preach some day." Mr. Beecher remarked, "I would be very happy to see you on my platform."

Mr. Fullerton—Brother Shearman will be all the audience that I will want. (Laughter.)

Mr. Beecher—And perhaps all that you will have. (Laughter.)

Mr. Fullerton—What's that? I didn't hear that.

Mr. Beecher—It wasn't meant for you.

Mr. Fullerton—If I should consent, Brother Shearman, I should have my hands full.

Counsel then read an extract from the sermon relating to the circumstances under which confession may not always be the best.

It was now wanting but five minutes of four, and the counsel expressing a disinclination to proceed further, the Court was adjourned till the usual hour, eleven o'clock A. M.

LET US EXPORT BEECHER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD:—

I notice by an extract from the Press, appended to this letter, that kissing is not known in China. Being a practical man, this announcement has given me an idea—a happy idea. Let us educate the Chinese. Millions of people are living in apparent ignorance of the bliss which attends the meeting of two lips. Shall they die in their ignorance? Never! But how shall these barbarians be instructed?

Aha, that is my idea. Let us export Beecher, and for evermore shall the walls of Hong Kong echo to the sounds of the kiss paroxysmal, the kiss inspiratory, the kiss pastoral and the kiss inspirational. Unborn Beechers (in China) may thank us for the suggestion. But heaven help the Chinese. I enclose thirty cents in revenue stamps to assist in exporting Beecher. H. E.

PHILADELPHIA INSANE ASYLUM.

KISSING IN CHINA.

It is a singular fact that the custom of kissing is altogether unknown in China. The Chinese, indeed, have no word or term expressing love as we understand the tender passion. An American navy officer, voyaging Chinaward, narrates an amusing experience of the ignorance of the Chinese maidens of the science of kissing. Wishing to complete a conquest he had made of a young mei jin (beautiful lady), he invited her—using the English words—to give him a kiss. Finding her comprehension of his request somewhat obscure, he suited the action to the word and took a delicious kiss. The girl ran away into another room thoroughly alarmed, exclaiming, "Terrible maneater! I shall be devoured." But in a moment, finding herself uninjured by the salute, she returned to his side, saying, "I would like to learn more of your strange rite. Ke-e-es me!" He knew it wasn't right, but he kept on instructing her in the right of "ke-e-es me" until she knew how to do it like a native Yankee girl, and, after all that, she suggested a second course by remarking, "Ke-e-es me some more sêên jin, mee-leekee!" (Anglice—American), and the lesson went on until her mamma's voice rudely awakened them from their delicious dream.

RAPID TRANSIT.

ELECTION OF A BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

The New York Rapid Transit Association held an adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon at No. 162 Broadway, Charles Butler presiding and H. H. Cammann acting as secretary.

The business of the meeting was to elect a board of directors, which was done as follows:—Horace B. Claflin, Hiram W. Sibley, John H. Sherwood, Alonzo B. Cornell, Christopher Meyer, John B. Cornell, Philip Van Volkenburgh, William H. Lee, George H. Bissell, George W. Carleton, Griffith Rowe, Lewis J. Phillips, Lewis G. Morris, Charles F. Livermore, James M. Drake, John H. Cheever, Edmund A. Smith, Aaron Raymond, Charles Butler, Nathaniel P. Bailey, William H. Morrell, Hermann H. Cammann, Charles H. Roosevelt and B. L. Ackerman.

Considerable discussion was had over the name of James E. Kelley, some members doubting his membership, and his place being eventually left vacant in order to test the fact of his membership.

Some angry remarks occurred on the presentation, by Mr. John Collins, of the resolutions passed at a meeting of the Nineteenth Ward Rapid Transit Association Saturday evening last, and which were published in the HERALD the following day. It was resolved to return the resolutions to the Nineteenth ward association, as it was concluded their tone and form were disrespectful. An introductory preamble alleged against the parent organization a want of good faith, especially in that while the members of the Nineteenth ward organization were willing to subscribe $500,000 to the fund they were excluded from all participation in the control of the organization, and that really, considering the $3,000,000 had not yet, in accordance with the constitution of the association, been subscribed and the subscription, so far as made, was merely on paper, no board of directors could be at the present time legitimately elected.

Additional subscribers were announced—Roosevelt & Son, $10,000; William E. Dodge, $10,000; Benjamin F. Babbitt, $10,000; J. M. Brown, $2,000; A motion to appoint John A. Dix, E. D. Morgan, John Jacob Astor, Peter Cooper, Royal Phelps, William E. Dodge and James M. Brown as an advisory committee was, after some debate, withdrawn.

The association adjourned to meet again on Tuesday next, several hours having been spent in discussions and want of harmony having been repeatedly made evident.

CLUB EXERCISE.

DESPERATE ATTACK BY A PATROLMAN ON A BROTHER OFFICER.

About half-past ten o'clock yesterday morning Officer William Maher, of the Twenty-ninth precinct, arrived at the station house after disposing of two prisoners whom he had arrested the night before for intoxication. When he came in Sergeant Douglas, who was at the desk, noticed that he was somewhat under the influence of liquor. After making his report he passed into the back room, where Officer Hector Klinge and some other men off duty were indulging in a game of dominoes. Without any provocation or any intimation of his intent Officer Maher made a sudden and sweeping attack on Officer Klinge with his club, and cut him over the head in four places before the other men could stop his furious onslaught. It naturally caused great commotion in the station house, and even the men who were asleep up stairs were aroused from their beds. As soon as quiet was restored Sergeant Douglas had Officer Maher arraigned before him and at once questioned him as to his ruffianly conduct. The officer replied, "Roundsman Wallace is his brother-in-law, and Roundsman Wallace made a false charge against me five days ago." Sergeant Douglas told Officer Maher to go home and strip himself of his uniform and return to the station house immediately. Up to twelve o'clock Maher did not make his appearance, and Captain Steers sent Detective Rogers and Roundsman Carpenter to look for him. He was found in a liquor store on the corner of Thirty-second street and Seventh avenue, in full uniform, drinking at the bar. Detective Rogers immediately stated his mission, and asked him to go quietly to the station house. Officer Maher replied by knocking Detective Rogers down, whereupon the detective, as soon as he recovered his feet, struck out for Officer Maher and implanted two very severe blows about the eyes of his assailant. All the parties concerned appeared before Justice Kasmire, at the Washington Place Police Court, late yesterday afternoon. Officer Klinge, who had been attended by Police Surgeon Henry and had his head all bandaged up, preferred a charge of assault and battery against Officer Maher. Maher contended that he had been struck first by Officer Klinge, but all the other officers of the precinct present testified to the contrary. The case was remanded until to-day for further examination.

SING SING FIGHTERS.

CONDITION OF THE WOUNDED CONVICTS—MURDEROUS ASSAULT ON "WES" ALLEN BY A FELLOW JAIL BIRD.

To the casual observer tranquillity reigned at Sing Sing Prison yesterday. The breeze of excitement occasioned by the attempted escape of five convicts on Monday (the circumstances attending which have already been related exclusively in the HERALD) had blown over, leaving behind no visible results other than two wounded jail birds in the hospital and another unscathed, the sole occupant of a dark cell. The wounded convicts, Alexander Corbett and John McHalpin, are still suffering considerable pain from their injuries, although no dangerous symptoms had manifested themselves in either case.

It leaked out at the prison yesterday that a murderous assault was recently made on "Wes" Allen, of nitro-glycerine notoriety, who is still in the hospital suffering from the injury received. It will be recollected that under a former agent and warden "Wes" was about to be removed, with others, to Auburn, when he barricaded himself in a cell, and armed (as he said) with a bottle of the explosive commodity named threatened to blow up the entire prison if he was molested. He carried his point, and was permitted to remain. Lately he has been employed, with four or five others, at the work of "feeding" the lime kilns with stone, and a few days since he was found lying covered with blood and insensible in a little shed near the lime kilns, where the men were accustomed to hang their jackets and rest when not at work. He was carried to the hospital, where, upon examination, it was found that he had been dealt a murderous blow on the side of the head with some heavy instrument, which had almost severed the ear. It was stated subsequently that the weapon used was an iron drill. Allen, who has a defective eye, it appears, was sitting intently perusing the pages of a daily paper, when some enemy among his fellow convicts approached him on the "blind side" and administered the blow, which was doubtless intended to be a fatal one. His assailant has not been discovered.

REFORMED CHURCH CLASSIS.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL QUESTION DISCUSSED—AN OUTRAGE ON CATHOLICS—DELEGATES TO THE GENERAL SYNOD.

The Reformed churches in this city and vicinity are represented in two ecclesiastical bodies known as Classis. One is known as the New York Classis and the other as the South Classis of New York. Both of these bodies met yesterday in their semi-annual session, the former in the Collegiate church on Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street and the latter in the Union Reformed church in Sixth avenue.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION DISCUSSED.

A committee, which had been appointed to prepare a minute expression on the sense of the Classis on the school question, now agitating this community, of which Dr. Rogers and Judge D. P. Ingraham were members, reported that it was not expedient at this time to take any action thereon. Dr. Ganse thought it was the most important question that could come before Church bodies at this time, and he advocated some expression being given. Dr. Rogers considered the Board of Education a competent body of men, and he thought we should all be satisfied with the result of their action, and it would be hardly proper or respectful to remind them of their duty. The action proposed by the Catholics is an outrage on the people of New York, but it is the latter's duty to oppose it as citizens and taxpayers, and not as ministers or ecclesiastical bodies. Dr. Riley deemed it legitimate and proper for Classis to state respectfully and kindly that they should consider it an invasion of the rights of their denominations for the Board of Education to take the line of action proposed by the Catholics. It will lead to a terrible conflict and opposition if adopted. Dr. Chambers remarked that if this aid be granted to Roman Catholics it will be asked for the schools of other denominations also, and he would do his best to get it for the schools attached to his church. He had heard men well informed express a great deal of doubt as to the immediate issue of this application. If the result shall provoke a fight it will be a big fight, and he believed it better to let the Board know what they (the Classis) think of it before it comes to pass. Dr. Ormiston thought the Board should be told plainly and promptly that if it granted this aid to the Roman Catholic schools it must do the same to others. Judge Ingraham remarked that the law says the Board shall not do certain things, and yet here is an application to them to violate this law. Now, if they are competent enough to know that they can't do this thing, and we dictate to them what is their duty, we shall weaken our own influence by and by. I would not (said the Judge) ask them to violate the law for us, even if they do it for the Roman Catholics.

AN OUTRAGE ON CATHOLICS.

Elder William Wood remarked that when he was a member of the Board of Education there were three Roman Catholics in it; but now, out of the twenty-one members of that Board, there is but one Roman Catholic. He considered this an outrage when the appointments were made, and he considers it so now. In the school boards of trustees their rights are ignored in like manner, and he was not surprised that they make demands now which they never would have thought of had their rights been respected. The Catholics, in his opinion, erred in their method of getting at the end they seek. Had they closed their schools and thrown the 30,000 children which they say they have in charge on the hands of the Board of Education, that Board would be obliged to lease those schools; for it could not build schools enough for a dozen years to come to meet this want. Another elder remarked that the Catholics know very well what they are about. It is their trade to try and break up whatever stands in the way of their designs as a church, and this is but the entering wedge, and it is the general impression of the public that this application will be granted, even in violation of the law. The committee were discharged, and the Classis adopted a resolution of its own motion on this subject.

A call of the Avenue B church on the Rev. N. M. Steffens, of Illinois, was received and placed in his hands and arrangements made for his installation next month.

Drs. Mandeville, Ormiston, Chambers and Geyer were elected delegates to the General Synod, which meets in Jersey City on the 2d of June. Elders N. S. King, D. P. Ingraham, James Wood and Cameron were also elected. To Particular Synod Drs. Riley, Dubois, De Hart and Carroll were chosen, and Elders Bogardus, Allen, Miller and De Breese. Some other business of minor importance was transacted and the Classis adjourned.

The Rev. C. McCready, D. D., will deliver a lecture on the "External Worship of the Catholic Church," in St. Andrew's church, corner of Duane street and City Hall place, on Sunday evening, April 25. He has long been recognized as one of our most prominent pulpit orators, and it is anticipated that a large audience will greet his lecture. Rev. M. Curran, the pastor of St. Andrew's church, has spared no pains to render this lecture a perfect success.

SHOT FOR LOVE.

ANTE-MORTEM STATEMENT OF MISS LIZZIE SEIDENWARD.

The unfortunate girl, Lizzie Seidenward, who was shot by Jacob Souderman in Chatham street Monday evening, was very low yesterday afternoon when Coroner Eickhoff called at the house of her parents for the purpose of taking her ante-mortem statement. She was somewhat easier than she had been during the fore part of the day, but nevertheless seemed to be rapidly sinking. Deputy Coroner Dr. Marsh examined the wound carefully and gave it as his opinion that meningitis would soon supervene. The girl's statement is as follows:—

Last evening, about eight o'clock, I left my home with Mr. Isaac Brown and Miss Annie Thomas to go to Turn Hall, in Fourth street, between the Bowery and Second avenue. We walked to Chatham street, opposite Roosevelt, and then waited for a Third avenue car. A car was coming and Mr. Brown was just going to hail it when I heard a report and we all suddenly flew apart. I felt a stinging pain behind my left ear and saw blood on my left hand. I screamed out that I was shot. I found myself left alone and I ran into a hallway. Some officer came up and asked me what was the matter and I said I was shot. I was taken to Park Hospital and my mother was sent for. After this the doctor tried to get the ball out. I was then brought home in an ambulance. I did not see the person who shot me, but Miss Thomas called out to me when I said "I am shot" that Souderman had shot me. She told me she saw him shoot me. I knew when I was shot that Souderman had shot me, because he had threatened and said he would shoot me, and has been following me around. He threatened to shoot me if I would not marry him. He met me in the street about six months ago, and said if I did not marry him he would shoot me. For the last two months he has followed me around wherever I went and has threatened to shoot me.

THE FRANKFORT HOUSE FIRE.

THE FIRE SUPPOSED TO BE OF AN INCENDIARY CHARACTER.

Coroner Woltman resumed the inquest yesterday in the case of the unknown man, supposed to be one David Read, who died of suffocation at the fire at the Frankfort House on the 6th of April.

Silas C. Smith, being sworn, testified:—I am proprietor of the Frankfort House; the fire occurred at about twenty minutes to three A. M. on the 6th inst.; the clerk called me a few minutes after the fire broke out; I went up stairs and found that the fire originated in the water closet or the room next to it; when I went up stairs the fire was coming from the water closets and the room adjoining; had two men with me to arouse the inmates; the building was built by myself in 1850-51; the building was intended for a lodging house and contains 192 rooms for rent, their sizes being 8x10 and 10x12; there are 240 rooms in the house, counting the water closets; the height of the building is seventy-two feet—about the height of a modern five story house; there are tanks over each closet, also a pitcher of water in each room; had we had a hose in time the extent of the fire would have been lessened; my orders are not to allow men to lodge who are under the influence of liquor; it is my impression that the fire is of incendiary origin; did not know the deceased; he was registered on the book between eight and twenty minutes past eight P. M., April 5, and occupied room No. 214; I was up till half-past one A. M., April 6, on account of having a new clerk; I think that Thomas Bryson and Robert Smith can throw some light upon the origin of the fire; I suspect Thomas Bryson, who was a clerk in my employ three months; he is an Englishman; I discharged him Saturday, April 3, for irregularities in the accounts; I have heard that he stated he would get even with me; Robert Smith was also a clerk in my employ and was discharged for the same reason; he was a porter at first and a clerk two months; the last man seen in the house was Bryson; the average number of lodgers in the house is from eighty to ninety.

At this stage of the proceedings the investigation was adjourned indefinitely, to allow officers to secure certain witnesses.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

An Erratic Stock Market—Spasmodic Movements.

MONEY EASY AT 3 PER CENT.

Gold Steady at 115 1-8—Government Bonds Strong and Active.

SECRETARY BRISTOW'S WORK.

WALL STREET, TUESDAY, April 20—6 P. M.

More than usual interest attached to the stock market to-day, in consequence of sharp, sudden and unexpected fluctuations, which were calculated to prevent anything like monotony on either side of speculation. The opening prices were firm and promising, but only a little time elapsed before it was apparent that somebody had put his foot on the principal active securities and commenced a milking process upon all of the weaker holders. Later a well defined bear movement set in, and there was much covering and realizing, although at the close there was some recovery and exhibition of fresh strength. On the other hand excitement was caused by a spasmodic advance in Kansas Pacific and Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph. The former opened at 19⅛, and steadily moved up to 26½, with a close at 26. The sales amounted to 8,900 shares. By a few who took advantage of this knowledge this result was not unanticipated; for the point had been quietly given out that the pending controversy between the company and the Union Pacific corporation is settled and henceforth that passengers and freight will be shipped over either route without competition in price.

ADVANCE AND DECLINE.

The following were the changes to-day, compared with the prices of yesterday:—

ADVANCE.—Atlantic and Pacific preferred, ⅛; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, ½; Wabash, ⅛; Union Pacific, ¼; Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph, ⅜; Canton, 2.

DECLINE.—Erie, ⅜; Hannibal and St. Joseph, ⅜; Harlem, ½; Lake Shore, ⅛; Northwestern common, ⅞; Pacific Mail, ⅞; Panama, 6; Quicksilver, ¼; Rock Island, ½; St. Paul, ¼; Western Union, ⅛; Northwestern preferred, ⅜.

The stocks that remained steady were New York Central, C., C. and I. C., Ohio and Mississippi and gold.

THE SALES OF TO-DAY

amounted to about 220,000 shares, which were divided among the active stocks as follows:—New York Central and Hudson River, 645; Erie, 800; Lake Shore, 34,000; Northwestern, 11,000; Northwestern preferred, 600; Rock Island, 1,700; Pacific Mail, 48,300; St. Paul, 1,150; St. Paul preferred, 300; Ohio, 8,000; Western Union, 24,000; Wabash, 5,000; Union Pacific, 36,000; Panama, 2,000.

OPENING, HIGHEST AND LOWEST PRICES.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Money on call loans closed easy at 3 per cent. Prime commercial paper continues to range from 5 to 7 per cent. The supply of capital is in excess of the demand and is likely to increase, the outpourings from the Treasury and from institutions and corporations during the next thirty or sixty days being of such a volume as to insure a redundancy. Secretary Bristow will begin the prepayment of the May interest without rebate to-morrow. Foreign exchange was firm, the prime asking rates being 4.87½ a 4.90½; selling rates, 4.86½ a 4.87½ a 4.90 a 4.90½; continental firm; reichmarks, 94¾ a 95 a 95¼; cables, 96¼; prime Paris, 5.15 a 5.12½; other rates, 5.10⅝ a 5.13¾.

THE GOLD MARKET.

Gold opened and closed at 115⅛, selling meanwhile at 115¼. The market was tame and without feature. The carrying rate was 1 per cent and the borrowing rates 2 and 1 per cent. Loans were also made flat. The Havana steamer took out $195,000 Spanish gold coin to-day.

THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

The customs receipts to-day were $560,000; internal revenue receipts, $190,000; national bank note receipts for redemption $570,000.

The Secretary of the Treasury to-day issued a call for $5,000,000 of five-twenty bonds, upon which interest will cease on the 20th of July. The following are the numbers of the bonds called:—$50, 15,401 to 17,100; $100, 40,001 to 44,200; $500, 20,001 to 22,400; $1,000, 66,001 to 70,950. All numbers are inclusive. The Secretary of the Treasury also instructed the Assistant Treasurers throughout the country to commence to-morrow paying the May interest without rebate.

The indications are that the national bank notes issued during April will aggregate $1,200,000, which will call for the retirement of an additional $960,000 of outstanding legal tenders.

The Assistant Treasurer paid out to-day $9,000 on account of interest and $22,050 in redemption of five-twenty bonds.

THE TREASURY BALANCES.

COMMERCIAL REPORT.

SPOT COTTON DULL AND DECLINING—FUTURES LOWER—FLOUR DULL—WHEAT IRREGULAR AND LOWER—CORN FIRMER—OATS MORE ACTIVE—BARLEY QUIET AND FIRM—RYE FIRM—PORK LOWER—LARD HIGHER—PETROLEUM DULL—NAVAL STORES QUIET—WHISKEY STEADY—GROCERIES FIRMER.

TUESDAY, April 20—6 P. M.

The merchandise markets were still irregular and prices fluctuated considerably, the general tendency being in buyers' favor. A few of the principal commodities were sought after, but, as a rule, the markets were very quiet. Breadstuffs were quiet, wheat, in particular, being dull and lower, but closing a little more steady. Corn was in demand and, being scarce, prices advanced. Oats were in demand and firmer. Barley was quiet, but strong. Whiskey was without decided change. Pork was dull and lower. Lard was in demand and decidedly higher. Cotton on the spot was in buyers' favor, but not quotably lower. Futures declined 3-16c. and closed easy. Petroleum was dull and heavy. Naval stores were without activity and if anything easier in feeling. Groceries were moving to a fair extent, with values of leading staples very firm.

ASHES have attracted but little attention, and prices are somewhat nominal at 6c. for pots and 8c. for pearls. Sales at these prices have been in small jobbing lots.

ANTIMONY.—For Regulus 13½c. gold is asked, but the trade is very light, notwithstanding the low price.

BEESWAX rules very firm, with the demand very liberal at 35c. a 35½c. for fair to prime Southern and 33c. a 34c. for do. Western.

BROOM CORN.—Values are becoming somewhat nominal, as holders decline to submit to any reductions and manufacturers have apparently withdrawn for the time being, so that during the past few days there has been but little trading. We quote:—16c. a 17c. for short green brush, 15c. a 17c. for long green hurl and 11c. a 14c. for red and red tipped and medium.

BATH BRICK rules quiet, with a fair distributing business reported at 78c. a 80c.

BUTTER.—The general market rules quiet and nothing of any special interest has transpired. New stock is the only grade that attracts any particular attention and choice qualities of this class are about the only kind that appear to be wanted. State qualities are mostly favored, as Western runs poor. Medium and lower grades are difficult to move. Old stock is very slow and generally neglected, with much of it so poor in quality that it will have to be closed out as grease. We quote:—New butter—State, pails and tubs, choice, 27c. a 28c.; do., good to prime, 24c. a 26c.; do., fair to good, 22c. a 23c.; Western tubs, choice, 22c.; do., good to prime, 18c. a 20c.; do., fair to good 16c. a 17c. Old butter—State firkins, fine, selected, 22c.; do., do., good to prime, 18c. a 20c.; do., do., fair to good, 16c. a 17c.; State, half firkin tubs, choice selected, 22c. a 24c.; do., do., good to prime, 17c. a 20c.; do., do., common to fair, 15c. a 16c.; State, Welsh tubs, choice selected, 20c. a 22c.; do., do., good to prime, 17c. a 18c.; do., do., common to good, 15c. a 16c.; Western, firkins, good to prime, 15c.; do., do., fair to good, 14c.; do., do., common, 12c. a 13c.; do., tubs, good to prime, 15c.; do., do., fair to good, 14c.; do., do., common, 12c. a 13c.; rolls, good to prime, 14c.; do., fair to good, 12c. a 13c.

BEANS AND PEAS.—In a jobbing way the demand for mediums has continued fair, and prices have ruled about the same as last week, but in tone the market was feverish. Marrows attracted but little attention, and lower prices have been accepted. Peas met with a light demand. We quote:—Medium, new, choice, $1 80 a $1 85; do., fair to good, $1 40 a $1 50; marrows, new, choice, $2 10 a $2 15; do., fair to good, $2 a $2 05; peas, new, $1 90 a $2; red kidney, prime, new, $3 10 a $3 15; green peas, new, $2 40 a $2 50; white kidney, choice, $2 30 a $2 35; do., fair to good, $2 a $2 10; black-eye peas, $3 50.

CHEESE.—The demand from shippers has continued quite liberal, and all the nice lines meet with ready sale, as this class is fast becoming reduced, and it will be difficult to find desirable lines after the close of this month. New cheese does not meet with much favor as yet, and 15c. may be considered as an outside figure. From the home trade the demand is moderate at steady and uniform prices. We quote:—State factory, fancy, jobbing trade, 15½c. a 16½c.; do. do., colored, for export, 16c. a 16½c.; do. do., white do., 15½c. a 16c.; good to fine, 15c. a 15½c.; do. fair to good, 13c. a 15c.; do. dairies, fine, 14c. a 15½c.; Orange county skims, 5c. a 11c.; Ohio factory, cheddar shape, choice, for export, 14c. a 15½c.; do. do., flat do., do., for domestic trade, 14½c. a 16c.; do. do., fair to good, for export, 8c. a 11c.; do. do., poor to fair, 4c. a 7c.; Michigan and Wisconsin factory, fine, 14c. a 15½c.

COFFEE.—The demand from the jobbing trade was quite liberal, with steady and uniform prices realized for several invoices. From first hands there was nothing to note in the market. The cargo of the Jane Shay, at Baltimore, including 2,800 bags, sold at a private price. We quote:—Ordinary cargoes, 16½c. a 16¾c.; fair do., 17½c. a 17¾c.; do., good, 18c. a 18¼c.; prime do., 18¾c. a 19¼c.; extreme range for lots, 16c. a 19¾c.; Java, government bags 25c. a 26c.; do., grass mats, 25c. a 27c.; Singapore, 21c. a 23c.; Ceylon, 18½c. a 21c.; Maracaibo, 18c. a 21½c.; Laguayra, 17c. a 18½c.; Jamaica, 16½c. a 18c.; St. Domingo 15c.; Porto Rico, 17c. a 19c.; Costa Rica, 17c. a 20c.; Mexican, 18½c. a 19c.; Angostura, 17½c. a 19c.; Savanilla, 17½c. a 20c.; Curacoa, 17c. a 18½c., gold, 60 and 90 days.

COTTON on the spot was generally neglected by buyers, while the offerings were comparatively large and served to depress the market without causing a general decline, although some of the small lots sold at lower prices. Some low bids were made by exporters, which were, however, generally refused. In addition to the sales below reported some 500 bales were sold for export after 'Change. We were unable to learn as to the price. Spinners only wanted small lots, and were supplied at about quotations. Speculators made unacceptable bids. Futures declined about 3-16c. and closed easy at the following quotations:—April, 16 5-32c. a 16 3-16c.; May, 16 3-16c.; June, 16 15-32c.; July, 16 11-16c. a 16 23-32c.; August, 16 27-32c.; September, 16¾c. a 16 21-32c.; October, 16 7-32c. a 16¼c.; November, 16 1-32c. a 16 1-16c.; December, 16 1-16c. a 16 3-32; January, 16 7-32c. a 16¼c. We quote, prices based on standard of classification in force September 1, 1874, and on upland cotton in store running in quality not more than half a grade above or below the grade quoted:—Ordinary, 14⅜c.; good ordinary, 15⅝c.; strict good ordinary, 16⅛c.; low middling, 16⅝c.; middling, 17c.; good middling, 18⅛c. Quotations based on American standard of classification:—

The receipts at the ports were as follows:—Galveston, 288 bales; New Orleans, 909; Mobile, 58; Savannah, 413; Charleston, 242; Wilmington, 28; Norfolk, 739; Baltimore, 79; New York, 600; Boston, 14; total, 3,370 bales. This day last week, 5,996 bales. This day last year, 3,960 bales. Cotton freights to foreign ports quoted thus:—To Havre, by steam, ⅝c. To Hamburg, by steam, ⅝c. To Bremen, by steam, ⅝c.; by sail, ⅜c., compressed. To Liverpool, 7-32d. a ¼d. by steam; by sail 7-32d.

DRIED FRUITS.—The demand for both sliced and quarter apples has been very limited. Peaches move slowly, and only prime qualities are wanted. Small fruits rule steady, with a fair demand reported. We quote:—State apples, sliced, 8½c. a 9c.; do., quarters, 8c. a 8½c.; Southern apples, quarters, 7½c. a 7¾c.; do., sliced, 8c. a 9c.; do. do. fancy, 10c. a 11c.; Western apples, quarters, 7¾c. a 8c.; peeled peaches, North Carolina, prime, 30c. a 32c.; do., do., fair to good, 28c. a 29c.; do., new, Georgia, 27c. a 28c.; do., State, 26c. a 28c.; unpeeled do., halves, new, 8½c. a 9c.; do. do., quarters do., 7½c. a 8c.; blackberries, 9c.; cherries, State, 27c. a 28c.; do., Southern, new, 26c. a 28c.; raspberries, new, 30c. a 31c.; plums, Southern, 18c. a 19c.; do., State, 18½c. a 20½c.

EGGS.—The tone of the market has been weak for several days, but the present cold weather has prevented any material decline in prices. The receipts were fair, but not excessive. We quote:—Long Island, New Jersey and nearby, 19c.; State and Pennsylvania, 18c. a 18½c.; Western, choice brands, 18c. a 18½c.; other Western, 17½c. a 18c.; Southern, 17½c. a 18c.

FISH met with an improved demand. Prices of mackerel are rather firmer, with sales at 13½c. a 14c. for No. 1 and $9 50 a $10 for No. 2. Bay steady but quiet at $9 a $10 for No. 1 and $8 a $8 50 for No. 2. Cod are moving freely at 5¾c. a 6c. Boxed herring active at 35c. for scaled. Dutch herring held at 85c. per keg.

FRESH FRUITS.—The Charleston steamer brought a large lot of strawberries which realized from 30c. to 60c. per quart. Apples are quite plenty with greenings freely offered at $2 25 a $2 50. Cranberries are dull. We quote:—Strawberries, per quart, 30c. a 60c.; Apples, Western New York, mixed, $1 25 a $1 75 per bbl.; do., selected, $2 a $2 25; do., common, 75c. a $1 50. Cranberries, prime, $2 50 per box; do., poor to fair, $1 a $2; do., Eastern, fancy, $7 a $8 per bbl.; do., poor to good, $5 a $6 50. Hickory nuts, $1 50 a $2 per bushel. Black walnuts, 50c. a 60c. Peanuts, fancy, $2 25 a $2 40; do., fair, $2 a $2 20; do., common, $1 50 a $1 60.

FRUIT has met with a fair trade, with prices steady. Sover raisins sold at $4 65; Valencia, 11c. per lb. Turkish prunes active at 7½c. a 7¾c. Currants have attracted more attention at 6c. a 6½c. Citron and figs continue dull and without feature of interest. Sardines are selling moderately at 21c. a 23c. for half boxes and 14c. a 15c. for quarters. Nuts quiet at 6c. a 6½c. for Brazil, 30c. for princess almonds.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.—Receipts—Flour, 14,421 bbls.; wheat, 30,880 bushels; corn, 8,800 do.; oats, 8,950 do.; corn meal, 25 bbls. and 450 bags; rye, 500 bushels. The flour market was dull and heavy, but prices were without decided change. Shipping extras were steady, selling to the extent of about 1,500 bbls. at $5 35. The sales, all told, were 13,750 bbls. Corn meal was in fair request and firm, with 1,100 bbls. reported sold. We quote:—

Wheat was dull and about 1c. a 2c. lower, closing a little more steady at about $1 16 a $1 19 for No. 2 Chicago, and $1 19 a $1 21 for Milwaukee in store and afloat. The sales were about 61,000 bushels at $1 20 for choice Chicago; $1 20 a $1 21 for No. 2 Milwaukee afloat; $1 33 for white. No. 2 Milwaukee was offered for May delivery at $1 16, but $1 12 was the best bid. Corn was scarce and higher, closing at 93c. for mixed afloat, with 144,000 bushels sold at 92c. a 93½c. for mixed; 92c. a 93½c. for yellow; 89c. a 91½c. for mixed in store; 90c. for do. to arrive. Oats were firmer and in good demand; sales were 71,000 bushels at 73c. a 75½c. for Western mixed, 75c. a 77c. for white do. Barley was strong, $1 50 being refused for prime Canada. Rye was quiet, with Canada in bond held at $1 00 and State at $1 10.

FREIGHTS.—There has been rather more demand for room, induced by easier rates. To Liverpool, by sail, 24,000 bushels grain, at 5d., and 500 bbls. rosin at 2s. 1½d.; and by steam, 300 bales cotton at ¼d. for compressed, 1,050 bales do at 7-32d. for do, 1,500 tierces lard at 30s. and 10 tons green salted hides at 23s.; to London, by sail, 1,000 bbls. flour at 2s., and by steam, 1,600 bbls. flour at 2s., 8,000 bushels grain (relet room) at 7½d. and 1,500 boxes cheese at 40s.; to Glasgow, by steam, 500 bbls. flour at 2s., 8,000 bushels grain reported at 6d.; to Bristol, by steam, 48,000 bushels grain (engaged some time since) on private terms; to Cork for orders, an Italian bark, hence with about 5,500 quarters grain at 4s. 6d.; a British bark, with about 2,800 quarters do., from Philadelphia, at 5s. 6d.; a British schooner, with 1,800 quarters do. from do., at 5s. 6d., and an Italian bark, with about 3,200 quarters do. from Baltimore, on private terms; to Nantes, a French bark, hence with about 2,500 bbls. crude petroleum, at 4s. 6d.; to Bremen, a Swedish bark, hence with about 4,600 bbls refined petroleum, reported at 4s.; to Rotterdam, by steam, 32,000 bushels wheat on private terms; to Lisbon, a Norwegian bark, hence with equal to about 3,400 quarters grain, in ship's bags, at 14½c.; to Trieste, by sail, 700 bbls. flour at $1 25; 1,500 sides leather at ⅞c., 90 hhds. tallow at 37s. 6d.; also an Italian bark, hence with rosin, at 82½c.; to the north side of Cuba an American brig, hence with empty casks, at 80c.

GAME.—Pigeons still rule very high in price, with but few coming forward. Ducks are dull and in fact not wanted. Snipe, when in good order, meet with a fair sale. We quote:—Wild pigeons, feathered, flight, netted, per dozen, $2; do., do., picked, flight, $2; canvasback ducks, Southern, per pair, $1 a $1 50; do., Western, 75c. a $1; redhead ducks, 40c. a 60c.; mallard ducks, 40c. a 50c.; teal and widgeon, 20c. a 25c.; English snipe, per dozen, $1 25 a $1 75; plover, $1 25 a $1 75; sand snipe, 40c. a 55c.

GUNNIES.—The business has been confined to small lots, quotations remain firm. We quote domestic cloth, in lots, 13c.; Borneo and Gouripore, 12⅝c. a 13c.; Calcutta, 9½c. a 10c., and bags at 11½c. a 12.

HEMP AND JUTE.—Jute butts remain steady, with late sales of 600 bales at 2⅜c., time; cash quoted at 2 11-16c. Jute unchanged at 4½c. a 5⅛c., gold. Hemp, though quiet, is firm at 7½c. a 7¾c. for Manila and 5½c. for Sisal, both gold.

HAY.—Shipping qualities scarce, with good demand, and receipts are not quite as liberal as expected, consequently there is more tone to values, though prices are slightly irregular, and may be quoted at 70c. a 75c. for North River shipping; 80c. a $1 for retail qualities; 60c. a 70c. for clover, and 50c. a 55c. for salt. Straw meets with very little attention at 75c. a 85c. for long rye; short, 60c. a 65c.

HIDES.—Without material change in prices the market is moderately active. The week's statistics sum up thus:—Receipts—965 from Ciudad Bolivar per Magdalena; 31 from Porto Cabello per Atlas; 2,426 from Savanilla, &c., per Etna; 383 from Tampico per Eveline; 29 from St Croix per Princess Alexandra; 3,939 from Central America per Acapulco; 3,338 from San Francisco per do., 4,475 from Galveston per City of Waco; 8,722 from do. per Clyde; 7,548 from New Orleans per Hudson; 40 from Savannah per San Jacinto; 150 from do. per Ashland, 1,741 from other coastwise ports. Total, 34,037 hides. Sales—4,000 dry Buenos Ayres, 19½lbs., 23⅝c., gold, four months, usual selection; 840 do. do., 24½ lbs. a 28 lbs. do., private terms; 1,875 do. do. kips, 10 lbs., do.; 1,000 do. Corrientes, 22 lbs. do.; 845 do. Montevideo, 24½ lbs., 23⅝c. gold, four months, usual selection; 12,09 do. do., 19½ lbs. a 20½ lbs., 24c. gold, do., do.; 2,850 do. do. seconds, 21½ lbs., private terms; 6,000 do. Same time 1874, 101,200 hides and 468 bales East India do. do. 1873, 235,000 do. and 1,219 do. do.; do. do. 1872, 120,000 do. and 137 do. do.; do. do. 1871, 139,000 do. and 1,510 do. do. There being no change in prices we omit quotations.

LEATHER.—The exports for the week amount to about 11,000 sides to England and 2,200 sides to the Continent. These figures show a more liberal export movement, but the receipts continuing free the assortment is ample, with a comparative excess of middle and over weights. The demand from the manufacturers is fairly active at quotations:—

	Hemlock. Buenos Ayres.		California.		Common Hide.
Light	27c.	a 27½c.	25½c.	a 26c.	25½c.	a 26c.
Middle	28c.	a 30c.	27½c.	a 28c.	27c.	a 28c.
Heavy	28c.	a 29c.	27½c.	a 28c.	27½c.	a 28c.
Good damaged	25½c.	a 26c.	24½c.	a 25c.	24½c.	a 25c.
Poor damaged	—	a —	—	a —	19c.	a 21c.

—Crop.—Slaughter—Light backs, 34c. a 36c.; middle backs, 37c. a 39c.; light crop, 32c. a 34c.; middle crop, 34c. a 36c.; heavy crop, 35c. a 36c. Texas—Light crop, 31c. a 32c.; middle and over crop, 33c. a 35c.; rough hemlock, 27c a 28c; rough oak, 28c. a 31c; bellies, 14c. a 17c.

MOLASSES.—The demand for grocery grades was rather quiet, but values rule very strong. One or two cargoes of Porto Rico have come forward, but remain unsold. Of boiling stock we note sales of a cargo Cardenas, including 296 hhds. and 29 tierces, at 42c., testing rather better than 50.

New Orleans was quiet and steady, with a small lot sold at 75c. We quote:—Cuba, centrifugal and mixed, 35c. a 40c.; do., clayed, 39c. a 43c.; do., muscovado refining, 42c. a 44c.; do., do., grocery, 39c. a 45c.; Porto Rico, 40c. a 60c.; English Islands, 38c a 50c.; New Orleans, 60c. a 75c.; boiling stock, 44c. a 41½c. for 50 test.

METALS.—There has been a moderate business in ingot copper and late quotations have remained steady; late sales include 400,000 lbs. lake at 22½c. a 22⅝c. cash. Lead shows more firmness under better advices from Europe; domestic quoted at $5 85 per 100 lbs. and 7⅛c. a 7¼c for foreign, both gold. Spelter remains steady at 6⅞c. a 7c., currency, for domestic, and 7c. a 7¼c. gold, for foreign; sales of 10 tons of the former on private terms. In block tin little or nothing has been done, and quotations show some decline at 20c. a 20½c. for straits, 19½c. a 20c. for English and 24½c. for Banca, all gold. In tin plates a moderate business was stimulated by a slight concession. We quote:—Charcoal tin at $9 25 a $9 50; do. terne, $8 25 a $8 50; coke tin, $7 25 a $7 62½; do. terne, $6 75 a $7 37½, all gold; late sales of 1,500 boxes charcoal tin and 1,000 boxes coke do. at these figures. In American pig iron nothing has been done, and notwithstanding the continued coal strikes and only moderate stocks quotations show weakness. No. 1 being nominally $27 a $28; No. 2, $26 and gray forge, $24 a $25. Scotch pig is weak, under a continued dulness and accumulating supplies. Eglinton quoted at $33 and Coltness at $37 a $38. Rails dull and unchanged, at $48 gold for English and $50 currency for American (at the mills). Scrap quiet, but steady, at $35 for No. 1 wrought.

MAPLE SUGAR comes forward freely and attracts a fair amount of attention. Choice white is not very plenty. The range of prices may be quoted at 9c. a 15c. for common to choice; sales chiefly at 14c. a 15c.; new light 14c. a 15c.; new dark, 12c. a 13c.; old, 9c. a 11c.

NAVAL STORES.—There was less doing in the market for spirits of turpentine, and quotations were slightly easier. The sales aggregated 113 bbls. at 38c., while large lots were quoted at 37½c. In rosins a fair business was effected and holders remained steady in their views; the sales included 300 bbls. good strained at $2 15; 3,000 bbls. do. on private terms; 200 bbls. good No. 2 at $2 10, and 100 bbls. extra pale at $6 25; ordinary strained quoted at $2 07½ a $2 10. Tar was more active and firmer; sales 150 bbls. Wilmington at $2 25, and 365 bbls. Washington and Newbern at $2 12½; city pitch quoted at $2 25, delivered.

OILS.—Lard oil was firm, on account of high cost of production; prime winter held $1 25 a $1 30, with light stock available. Tallow oil firm at 87½c. a 90c. for city, and 80c. a 82½c. for Western. Linseed still quoted 70c. a 71c., with but little doing. Whale oil but little inquired for and prices somewhat nominal. Cotton seed has been rather quiet at 43c. a 46c. for crude, 48c. a 50c. for light. Refined summer yellow held firmly at 60c. a 62c., and not much offered. Winter yellow, 63c. a 65c. Sperm oil very quiet, with crude held at $1 90. Menhaden of good quality is scarce, and firmly held at 45c., though the near approach of the fishing season induces operators to purchase merely to supply very urgent wants. Red oils are very quiet, with but little stock in the market. Tanners' oil quiet.

OIL CAKE has been in fair demand and steady at $44 a $45, gold, for city, and $48, currency, for Western.

PROVISIONS.—Receipts—Pork, 672 packages; beef, 203 do.; cut meats, 681 do.; lard, 578 do. The market for pork is dull and lower. In a jobbing way some 150 bbls. were sold at $22 20 a $22 25. For future delivery the sales were as follows:—For May, 2,250 bbls. at $22 a $22 15; for June, 1,000 bbls. at $22 25 a $22 30, and for July, 500 bbls. at $22 45 a $22 50. Dressed hogs were dull at 10¼c. a 10½c. for city. Beef was dull. We note sales of 250 bbls. family on private terms. Beef hams were neglected. Bacon ruled quiet. We note sales of 350 boxes city long clear at 12½c. Short clear was quoted at 12¾c. per lb. Cut meats were moderately active. The sales were:—1,200 pickled shoulders at 9½c., 1,500 do. hams at 12½c. a 12¾c., 15,000 lbs. bellies at 11c. a 11½c. and 900 fresh bellies at 11c. Lard was excited. The sales were:—250 tierces, cash, at 16c.; 1,500 tierces, April, at 16c. a 16 5-16c., 750 tierces, May, at 16 1-16c. a 16⅛c.; 750 June at 16⅛c. a 16 3-8c.; 500 tierces, July, at 16⅝c. and 50 tierces city, on the spot, at 15⅝c. a 15¾c.

PETROLEUM.—There was a continued dulness in the market for refined and quotations were inclined to be rather weak at 13⅝c. for spot, 13⅝c. for the balance of the month and 14c. for delivery up to May 15. Cases quoted at 19½c. a 20½c. for cargoes. Crude, in bulk, though quiet was about steady at 6⅞c. for April delivery. City naphtha was slightly better at 10c., in shipping order. Refined in Philadelphia was quiet and nominally 13⅝c. a 13⅞c. for April and 14c. for early May delivery. Refined, in Baltimore, was quoted at 13⅞c. a 14c.

POULTRY.—With light offerings prices continue strong and buoyant, and are reaching figures that will soon exceed the limits of buyers. The offerings are generally poor in quality, and nice lots are difficult to obtain. We quote:—Turkeys, state, prime, small, 25c.; do., do., fair to good, 20c. a 22c.; do., Jersey, prime, 25c.; do., do., fair to good, 21c. a 22c.; do., Western, prime, small, 20c. a 22c.; do., do., fair to good, 18c. a 19c.; chickens, Jersey, prime, 23c.; do. do., fair to good, 20c. a 22c.; fowls, Jersey, prime, 23c. a 22c.; do. do., fair to good, 17c. a 19c.; fowls and chickens, State and Western, prime, 20c. a 22c.; do. do., fair to good, 18c. a 20c.; cocks, 12c. a 12c.; ducks, Jersey, prime, 25c.; do., State and Western, prime, 24c. a 26c.; do., do., fair to good, 18c. a 20c. Frozen poultry—Turkeys, dry picked, choice, 23c.; do., do., fair to good, 21c. a 22c.; fowls and chickens, good to prime, 20c.; do., do., fair to good, 18c. a 19c.; ducks, good to prime, 23c. a 25c. Live poultry has not come forward very freely and a better tone can be noted to current values, which may be quoted as follows:—Spring chickens, per pair, $1 25 a $1 50; fowls, State and Jersey, per lb., 18c. a 20c.; do., Western, per lb., 18c. a 19c.; roosters, old, per lb., 10c. a 12c.; turkeys, State and Jersey, per lb., 18c. a 20c.; do., Western, per lb., 16c. a 18c.; ducks, State and Jersey, per pair, 75c. a $1 25; do., Western, per pair, 70c. a 75c.; geese, State and Jersey, per pair, $1 75 a $2; do. Western, per pair, $1 25 a $1 50.

POTATOES.—For prime varieties there has been some call for seed purposes, and this with the usual trade demand, imparts an improved tone to prices, which may be quoted as follows:—Bermuda, per bbl., $11; early rose, new double head bbls., $2 50 a $2 75; do., in bulk, per bbl., $2 25 a $2 50; peachblow, new double head bbls., $2 50 a $2 75; do., in bulk per bbl., $2 a $2 50; peerless, new double head bbls., $2 75 a $3; Prince Albert, in bulk, $2 a $2 25; peerless, in bulk, per bbl., $1 62 a $1 75; sweets, Winter, Delaware, $3 a $3 75. White onions, per bbl., $1 50 a $3; yellow onions, per bbl., 50c. a $1 50; onions, red, per bbl., 50c. a $1 50; onions, sets per bushel, $4 a $7.

RICE.—Aside from the distributing business nothing of special importance transpired. Prices ruled about steady for all grades, and may be quoted:—Carolina, good, 7¼c. a 7½c.; prime do., 7⅝c. a 7⅞c.; choice do., 8c. a 8⅛c.; Louisiana, 7⅛c. a 7⅝c. for fair to prime, and common qualities down to 6c.; Rangoon, 6¼c. a 6⅝c., currency; Patna, 7⅛c., currency; Rangoon, in bond, $2 15 a $2 87½, gold.

SUGAR.—With an improvement of 1-16c., the basis of quotations is advanced to 8⅛c. a 8⅜c. for fair to good refining. The offerings at this range are liberal but not excessive, as the receipts continue light and holders are very confident. The slow progress of business in refined products restricts refiners from operating beyond urgent necessities. The reported dealings included 629 hhds. fair refining Muscovado at 8⅛c.; 250 do. centrifugal, ordinary inequality, at 8⅛c.; 100 boxes clayed and molasses at 8⅛c., and 25 hhds. common refining at 7⅞c. Refined was quiet at 9 15-16c. a 10c. for A. and 10⅜c. a 10½c. for hards. The stock last evening was 66,525 hhds., 36,182 boxes, 118,569 bags and 2,381 melado:—Cuba—Refining, inferior to common, 7⅛c. a 7½c.; do., fair to good, 8⅛c. a 8⅜c.; do., good to prime, 8⅝c. Porto Rico—Refining, fair to good, 8⅛c. a 8⅝c.; centrifugal, boxes, Nos. 9 to 10, 8c. a 8⅛c.; 11 to 13, 8⅜c. a 8⅝c.; 10 to 13, 8⅝c. a 9⅛c.; Manila, 7⅛c. a 7⅝c.; molasses, hhds. and boxes, 7c. a 7⅜c.; melado, 6c. a 6⅝c.; clayed, boxes, Dutch standard, Nos 7 to 9, 7⅛c. a 7⅝c.; do., 10 to 12, 8⅛c. a 8⅜c.; do., 13 to 15, 8⅜c. a 9⅛d.; do. 16 to 18, 9⅝c. a 10⅛c.; do., 19 to 20, 10⅜c. a 10⅝c.; white, 9⅝c. a 10⅝c. Porto Rico—Refining, common to prime, 7c. a 8⅛c.; do., grocery, fair to choice, 8⅛c. a 8⅝c.; Brazil—Dutch standard, Nos 9 to 11, 7⅛c. a 7⅝c. Java—Dutch standard, Nos. 10 to 12, 8⅛c. a 8⅝c. Manila—Superior and extra superior, 7⅛c. a 7⅝c. New Orleans—Refining grades, 7c. a 7⅝c.; do., grocery grades, 8c. a 8⅝c.

STEARINE was quiet and nominal at about 16c. for Western and 16⅝c. for city.

TALLOW ruled strong, with further sales of 60,000 lbs. at 9c.

TOBACCO.—The movement in Kentucky leaf has been moderate and sales since Friday include 300 hhds. at 10½c. a 22½c. Seed leaf rules steady, but trade light. We note sales of 100 cases sundries at 8c. a 55c.; 40 cases Connecticut, crop 1873, at 47c.; 165 cases Ohio, same crop on private terms. Havana leaf has sold to a fair extent and dealings are reported of 250 bales at 87½c. a $1 15.

VEGETABLES.—The supply of green stuff is quite liberal and lower figures can be noted on some classes. The demand is quite liberal and the offerings are quite well cleared up from day to day. We quote:—Kale, per bbl., $1 50; spinach, do., $3 a $3 50; radishes, per 100, $1 50 a $2; lettuce, do., $6 a $10; Long Island rhubarb, per doz., $1 a $1 50; green peas, per crate, $1 75; asparagus, per doz., $3 a $9; Bermuda onions, per crate, $2 50; do. tomatoes, per box $1 50; do. beets, per crate, $2.

WHISKEY.—Receipts, 788 bbls. The market ruled a trifle firmer. The sales were 200 bbls. at $1 14 regular, and 50 bbls. at $1 14½ cash. Extra choice, in a small way sold at $1 15½.

WOOL.—The market shows no signs of improvement. The demand from manufacturers is still very limited, as the goods market continues depressed, with prices very unsatisfactory. The cargo of Australian per L. D. Carlton has not yet been offered, but holders expect to realize 52½c. a 53c. MISSOURI STATE STOCKS.

By virtue and authority of an act entitled "An act to authorize the issue and sale of renewal funding bonds for the purpose of meeting and paying the maturing State indebtedness," approved March 29, 1875, we, the undersigned, Fund Commissioners of the State of Missouri, will receive sealed bids at the office of the Governor of the State of Missouri (the same to be opened publicly by the Governor in the presence of these commissioners) on May 10, 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purchase of 800 bonds of the stocks of this State. The bids may be for any or all these classes, to wit:—
800 5 per cent Gold Bonds $1,000 each
800 6 per cent Bonds, payable in lawful money of the United States 1,000 each 800 5 per cent Pound sterling Bonds £200 each to be payable twenty years after date, but redeemable at the pleasure of the State of Missouri after five years from the date and before the expiration of the twenty years. Said stocks to have semi-annual coupons attached for the proper amounts of interest, payable on the 1st days of July and January of each year. All the bonds to be payable at the National Bank of Commerce, in New York, except the pound sterling stocks, to be payable in London. Two hundred and sixty of these bonds to bear date May 1, 1875, and to be delivered and paid for at said bank on June 10, 1875, and 540 to bear date July 1, 1875, and to be delivered and paid for at said bank on said last mentioned date. The right to reject any or all bids reserved to the Governor and Fund Commissioners. The proceeds of these bonds to be applied to the payment of the maturing indebtedness of the State. These are first class stocks, and have unquestionable guarantees for their payment. The resources of the State are ample to meet, promptly, principal and interest when due. This proceeding is done by and with the advice and consent of the Governor of the State.

WALL STREET NOTES.

AN EXCITING DAY—THE RELATIONS OF PANAMA AND PACIFIC MAIL.

The situation on the street is one of great anxiety to small dealers.

On Monday there was an advance of eight per cent in the stock of the Panama Railroad Company, followed by much excitement and many speculative rumors. The HERALD representative waited on Mr. Trenor W. Park, who is supposed to control the road, and that gentleman expressly denied being interested, either in the stock movement indicated or as a party to any arrangement by which Panama should yield to the demands of Pacific Mail or the overland roads. The advance in the stock, therefore, was either based on the covering of shorts or some guerilla movement intended to divert public attention from the artful manipulation of other stocks. That this latter supposition was the true one was evidenced to-day by the fall of Panama stock—with but few sales—to a point below which any sales had been recorded for several days. The rumor of the sailing of one of the new fleet of the Oriental and Occidental Steamship Company, chartered by the company from the White Star line, was regarded as part of the programme of manipulation especially as the announcement of the charter terms, &c., of the steamers was made in the HERALD some time since.

There was no meeting of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company yesterday, but there will be one to-day. Rumors flew thick and fast on the street as to arrangements with Panama, but these were authoritatively denied.

The floods on the Union Pacific Railroad are not regarded as involving much loss beyond that of present delay of freight and loss of passenger business. The bridges destroyed are wooden structures, and the damage to the tracks can be repaired without great expenditure; so said one of the officers of the road to the writer yesterday.

THE COURTS.

Interesting Personal Suit Against Register Jones.

MURDER ON THE HIGH SEAS.

When Does Real Estate Become Personal Property?

THE CITY WINS A SUIT.

A Highway Robber Sent to Prison for Eighteen Years.

No vote has been taken as yet in the Court of Appeals as regards the case of William M. Tweed, owing to the protracted illness of Judge Grover, and it may be eventually thrown over to the next term.

Earnest Hess was brought before Judge Barrett, in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, on a writ of habeas corpus, and a motion was made for his discharge from Ludlow Street Jail. Hess had been imprisoned by order of a Marine Court Judge for contempt of Court, and it was claimed on behalf of Hess that the Judge had no authority to imprison him. Judge Barrett thought otherwise, and dismissed the writ. The prisoner was remanded back to jail.

The trial of the alleged railroad bond forgers, now in its second week, before Judge Sedgwick, of the Superior Court, is nearing its close. The defence concluded its testimony yesterday and witnesses were called in rebuttal. The latter testimony was very strong and fully confirmatory of the evidence of Spence Pettis and Olmstead, the engraver. Counsel will to-day commence summing up.

There was a further examination yesterday in the Templeton child case before Judge Donohue, of the Supreme Court. A gentleman claiming to have formerly possessed large means, but at the present time to be impecunious, gave testimony of decidedly damaging character to a sister of Mrs. Babcock and not by any means complimentary to the latter or her daughter, Mrs. Ida Maud Templeton. The opposing counsel, Mr. John D. Townsend and ex-Judge Busteed, for a wonder, got through the examination without the introduction of any of the jarring and exciting elements characterizing the former days of examination.

Some time ago one Andrew O'Brien was brought before the Court of Special Sessions and sentenced to three months' imprisonment on a charge of stealing a bag of cotton. He swore that he found the cotton, and no evidence was produced to contradict him. His counsel had him brought yesterday, on a writ of habeas corpus, before Judge Barrett, in Supreme Court Chambers, who bailed him in $100, and in rendering his decision said:—"The prisoner must be admitted to bail. The evidence entitled him to an acquittal and I cannot understand how the magistrate came to convict upon the testimony."

Some time ago the will of James Unsworth, the negro minstrel, was filed in the Surrogate's Court. By this will he left his estate to a friend named Eugene S. Amell, and his brother, Joseph Unsworth, of Canada, as his executor. Joseph now files a notice of contest, and the hearing will be had on an early day.

Commissioner Shields yesterday committed, to await the action of the Grand Jury, Max Wolf, charged with violating the Revenue law in removing unstamped cigars from his factory.

The motion for a new trial in the case of George A. Mason, convicted on Friday last of counterfeiting, was heard yesterday by Judge Benedict in the Brooklyn United States Circuit Court. General B. B. Foster, for the prisoner, contended that there was a fatal variance between the indictment and the proof admitted at the trial. Mr. Purdy, from the District Attorney's office, earnestly combated Mr. Foster's position, and claimed that the variance was wholly unsubstantial and not meriting the consideration of the Court. Both lawyers cited numerous authorities in support of their views. Judge Benedict took their briefs and stated he would give his decision on Saturday next.

Mr. Justice Hunt will hold a special term of the United States Circuit Court at No. 41 Chambers street on Monday, May 17, and will probably continue to hold it during that week. He will take up the heavy cases on the calendars for the present term, belonging to the following classes:—Writs of error to the District Courts, appeals in bankruptcy, receivers in bankruptcy and appeals from decrees of the District Court in Equity cases. Any cases belonging to the above classes which are not on such calendars and which are ready for hearing may be noticed for hearing for May 17 by a notice of ten days to the opposite party and to the Clerk, and may be put upon such calendars. If there be any time after the hearing of cases in the above classes cases on the adjournment calendar will be heard.

SUIT AGAINST REGISTER JONES.

Nearly six years ago Henry C. Pratt gave a note for $2,250, payable to the order of Mrs. Anna J. Hillyer, wife of the late General Hillyer. The note was indorsed by General Hillyer and General Jones, then Postmaster of this city. Suit was brought by Andrew J. Davis, Jr., in the Supreme Court, to recover on the note, and the case came to trial yesterday before Judge Donohue, holding Supreme Court, Circuit, Part 2. Mr. Frank Thompson appearing for the plaintiff and ex-Judge George M. Curtis and E. C. Bigelow for the defendant, General Jones, who was sued as indorser. The defence was that the note was paid during the lifetime of General Hillyer; that no notice of protest was served on General Jones, and that the plaintiff was not the real party in interest, but one Harris. It was developed during the cross-examination that at the time Harris passed the note to the plaintiff he did not receive any money, but that after the suit had been pending for a time the plaintiff gave his note to Harris in consideration of the note in question, and that this was done at the residence of the plaintiff in the presence of his counsel and upon the latter's advice. An amusing feature presented itself during the further cross-examination of the witnesses called for the plaintiff, and which certainly revealed in a strong and favoring light the skill of ex-Judge Curtis as a cross-examiner. Mr. Harris testified that in company of General Hillyer he called at the office of General Jones, at the Post office, and left the notice of protest with the latter's private secretary.

"You are sure you left the notice of protest with General Jones' private secretary," quietly queried Judge Curtis of the witness.

"I am positive of it," promptly answered Mr. Harris.

"Can you describe the private secretary?"

"Well, not very accurately."

"Can you tell whether he was a tall man or a short man."

"No, sir."

"Was he spare or stout."

"I don't remember."

"Had he gray eyes, or blue eyes, or black eyes, or what was the color of his eyes?"

"I did not notice the color of his eyes."

"Well, you must be able to tell something about him. Was he a white man or a black man?"

"A white man."

"Sure of that?"

"Sure of it."

It turned out that the private secretary was a colored gentleman, which rather turned the tide of doubt against the witness. When the witness had concluded a motion was made to dismiss the complaint. This motion ex Judge Curtis urged on three grounds—that there was no proof as to the service of the protest; that the plaintiff was not the real party in interest, and that by the testimony of Harris the suit had been extended, and that by operation of law General Jones as indorser was released. The complaint was dismissed.

REAL AND PERSONAL PROPERTY.

In Supreme Court Chambers yesterday, before Judge Barrett, a motion was made on a referee's report for judgment in a foreclosure suit. The suit was brought by Frederick E. Gilbert against Margaret Craig and others, and the main question involved was as to when real property becomes personal property. The property on which the mortgage was had been formerly owned by Mr. Craig, and was valued at about $40,000. The same was bequeathed to Mrs. Putnam, who formerly lived with Mr. Craig, but specifically named in the will as not being his wife. The next of kin of the deceased was represented by Mr. John Gilmore Boyd, who applied to be allowed to have them included as defendants in the suit and to litigate their claim to the surplus money after payment of the amount of the mortgage. He further claimed that the existence of this suit to the present extent and practically created into personal estate, the amount which the real estate would sell for over and above the mortgage, and assuming such surplus to be real estate, his clients were entitled to come in and litigate their rights to a share of such surplus rather than to be compelled to institute a separate action. The Court took the papers and reserved its decision.

VERDICT FOR THE CITY.

Some time ago Mrs. Ellen Doyle brought suit against the city for the killing of her husband, Patrick Doyle, alleging that he met his death through the negligence of the city in not placing a proper cover over a hole on the bulkhead, between Piers 3 and 4, North River. His widow sued for $5,000 damages. The case was tried a few days ago and resulted in the disagreement of the jury. The case came up again yesterday for trial before Judge Van Vorst, in Supreme Court, Circuit. The defence asserted that the death of Doyle was caused by his own negligence, as they had properly covered the hole in the street, and therefore could not be held liable for damages. At the conclusion of the evidence and the charge of Judge Van Vorst the case was given to the jury, who, after a few minutes' deliberation, returned a verdict for the city.

MURDER ON THE HIGH SEAS.

On the 24th of last October W. J. Sheldon, a seaman on the ship Elige Houghton, of Portland, Me., commanded by Captain John Smith, became involved in an altercation with Edward Smith, the first mate, at the mouth of the Adriatic. The mate struck Sheldon with a belaying pin, when the latter drew a knife and stabbed his assailant, inflicting a wound from which he subsequently died. The vessel proceeded to several ports and finally loaded at Messina for this port, where she has just arrived. On a warrant issued by Commissioner Osborn Deputy Marshal Denbert yesterday boarded the vessel and arrested Sheldon, who will have his examination at one P. M. to-day.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

Before Judge Wallace.

THE LIABILITY OF INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CASES OF SUICIDE.

The case of Lazarus J. Lebermann vs. The Germania Life Insurance Company, to recover $10,000 gold, with interest, on the policy of S. Rosenthal, of San Francisco, was given to the jury yesterday in the above Court. It appeared in evidence that, being a debtor of Lebermann's, Rosenthal insured his life in favor of the plaintiff for $10,000. Subsequently he committed suicide, and at that time there were premiums unpaid, which were accepted by the agent of the company. The company resist the payment of the policy on the ground that it had the suicide clause in it, and that they are not responsible for the act of their agent in accepting the lapsed premiums. The plaintiff maintains that the suicide was the result of disease and therefore the policy is binding. The Court charged that if the jury believed that the company received the premiums the company was bound; that the jury must find whether the insured was insane. If he was insane when he took his own life it was not suicide in the meaning of the policy and they must find for the plaintiff. If, on the other hand, they found that he was not insane the policy is void. The amount involved, including the interest, is about $12,500. After being out nearly two hours the jury came in, reported that they differed on the question of insanity and were ordered to retire and bring in a sealed verdict.

MARINE COURT.

Before Judge Gross.

DAMAGES FOR BEING KNOCKED DOWN BY A WAGON.

Margaret Adams sued Edward Fitzpatrick in the above Court for damages by being run over by the bread wagon of the defendant and driven by him at the time. It appeared in the evidence of plaintiff's witnesses that Mrs. Adams, who is a very old woman, went out about six o'clock in the morning of the 7th of May, of last year, into Eleventh avenue, near Forty-sixth street, when defendant, driving by in his wagon, ran over her and inflicted injuries that confined her to her residence for six weeks. Fitzpatrick expressed much sorrow for the accident, and on the Saturday following called upon Mrs. Adams, expressed his regrets, offered to pay half the expenses of her sickness and tendered the services of his family physician, which were declined by the friends of the plaintiff. The defendant went upon the stand and denied that he caused the accident. His story was that while serving his customers on the avenue he found the plaintiff lying on the street injured; he picked her up, carried her to the sidewalk, and after her friends arrived he left; he subsequently called at the house of Corbett, a son-in-law of the plaintiff, where she was lying sick; advised them to get a doctor, but did not admit that he ran her down; witness did—when Corbett called upon him and insisted that he should pay the doctor's bill—offer to pay half of it sooner than to have any trouble; but the offer was declined; after turning her over on the morning of the accident to two ladies, who said they were her daughters, he saw her walk away with them; at no time, he averred, was his horse going faster than a walk, and had she been in front of his wagon he would have seen her. The case was given to the jury after a brief charge, who brought in a verdict of $250 for the plaintiff.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Recorder Hackett.

A GAMBLER SENT TO PRISON.

In the Court of General Sessions yesterday, before Recorder Hackett, Frank Bacus, who pleaded guilty to inveigling a man into a gambling house, was brought up and sentenced to imprisonment in the State Prison for one year.

EIGHTEEN YEARS FOR ROBBERY.

Edward Murphy, who was tried and convicted in April, 1873, of robbery, and sentenced to the State Prison for twenty years, but who by reason of a technical error was granted a new trial, was placed again at the bar for trial. The complainant, John North, the President of the Southington Eyelet Company, testified that he arrived in New York from Connecticut on the 12th of February, 1873, and while walking through Fifteenth street, near Tenth avenue, the prisoner approached him, saying, "Boss, shan't I carry your valise?" He replied in the negative and passed on, after which the prisoner came on a run, struck him a blow on the neck and snatched the valise. Murphy escaped, but was arrested on the 31st of March and positively identified by Mr. Howe.

Murphy swore that on the morning in question he went into a store and asked for liquor, which the bartender refused to give to him, and upon going into the street he saw the complainant and said, "Boss, you had better let me carry your valise." He replied, "No, you damned thief," and struck him, and he (Murphy) struck back.

The father of the prisoner testified that he was a good boy, but he had to put him in an insane asylum in consequence of his excessive drunkenness.

Four police officers testified that the prisoner had a bad character. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of robbery in the first degree.

The Recorder in passing sentence said that he had hoped that the severe sentences heretofore passed on his associates and himself would have had the effect of deterring men from the commission of the grave crime of robbery. His Honor said that infamous outrages are committed upon citizens every day, and he regretted to be compelled to impose such a punishment in this case as shall teach criminals in this community that such offences cannot be perpetrated with impunity. As Murphy had served eighteen months in the State Prison for the offence upon the previous conviction, the Court deducted two years from the penalty, sentencing the prisoner to the State Prison for eighteen years.

TOMBS POLICE COURT.

Before Judge Smith.

ROBBING A POOR BOX.

For some time past it has been noticed on opening the poor boxes of the Cathedral on Mott street that the funds have been tampered with. It has been noticed that the pennies were daubed with a sticky sort of substance, much resembling bird lime. Lately a watch was set, and early yesterday morning Officer Part, of the Fourteenth precinct, caught August Barth in the act of taking pennies from the box. The modus operandi was as follows:—Barth had a long piece of whalebone, one end of which was covered with birdlime, and each time he inserted it into the box some of the money adhered to it. When examined in Court it was found that one of his vest pockets was full of birdlime, while the other was full of soiled pennies. Father O'Keefe, who makes the charge, says it is probable that $500 have been stolen in the manner described, whether by Barth or other persons is not known. Barth pleaded guilty, and was held in default of bail to answer.

ESSEX MARKET POLICE COURT.

Before Judge Otterbourg.

MORE UNLICENSED LIQUOR DEALERS.

Inspectors Wendover and Urban, of the Excise Bureau, with the assistance of the police, made a raid in the Seventh and Eleventh wards Monday night and arrested the following liquor dealers for selling liquor without license:—John Reardon, No. 142 Cherry street; John Walsh, No. 126 Cherry street; Thomas McGrady, No. 421 East Houston street; John Reynolds, No. 15 Monroe street; William J. Barrett, No. 641 East Twelfth street; Louis Bruckner, No. 209 Third street; Martin Burns, No. 72 Lewis street; James Carr, No. 321 Stanton street; Philip Durning, No. 268 Rivington street; Thomas Dowling, No. 193 avenue C; Miles Reilly, No. 122 avenue D; James R. Earl, No. 290 Rivington street; Patrick Reynolds, No. 126 Cherry street, and James Shiel, No. 219 East Broadway.

They were all brought before Judge Otterbourg, and held in $100 bail each to answer, which bail was in all cases promptly furnished.

MADAME JANAUSCHEK'S LITIGATION.

Yesterday, in the Kings county Supreme Court, before Judge Pratt, there was a motion made by the counsel for Madame Fanny Janauschek to have a commission appointed to take the testimony of his client, who is now performing under contract in the city of St. Louis, Mo. The action grows out of an alleged breach of contract on the part of the celebrated German star to fulfil her agreement with Mrs. Sarah G. Conway, the lessee of the Brooklyn Theatre. It seems that about five or six months ago, after the defendant had been regularly billed to appear, and on an evening when the house was filled, the lady named declined to appear, giving as the reason for not doing so that her director, M. Billod, regarded the prices of admission as too low. She was originally to have one-half the receipts. Mrs. Conway was obliged on the occasion in question to appear before the curtain and dismiss the audience, who received their entrance money at the door. Suit for damages in the sum of $4,000 was instituted shortly afterward and testimony was taken before Mr. Palmar, the referee appointed by the Court. The defendant failed to appear, however. Yesterday ex Judge Troy, who represented the case for Mrs. Conway, opposed the motion of Mr. Stout and claimed that the defendant had been under the jurisdiction of the Court, but she had availed herself of various excuses for not appearing. The counsel for Madame Janauschek disclaimed her ever having made a contract with Mrs. Conway. At the time of the alleged breach of contract she was under the direction of M. Billod, and it was under his instruction that she had no right to appear at Mrs. Conway's theatre that she had declined to appear there, and that it was her duty to do as he desired, Mr. Stout argued.

Judge Pratt took the papers and reserved his decision.

THE RING SUITS.

THE ORDER OF ARREST AGAINST TWEED, MADE RETURNABLE ON THE 20TH, RENEWED YESTERDAY.

The order of arrest against Tweed, which was issued by Judge Davis on the 8th of this month, was returnable yesterday, and as no return was made to it a new order was yesterday issued and placed in the hands of the Sheriff, who sent a deputy with it to the Penitentiary. The new order is precisely the same as the one made on the 8th inst. with the exception that the date of the new order is the 20th and the time returnable a day next month. What day this is to be Under Sheriff Cumming would not state.

No notice of any additional suits has been filed as yet in the County Clerk's office.

OFFICIAL PICKINGS.

HOW MR. WHITE, SECRETARY OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, MADE TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS—SECRET HISTORY OF THE AERIAL LADDER PATENT—"I DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT IT."

Ten thousand dollars is a nice sum of money in these hard times. Mr. White, the Secretary of the Fire Commissioners, it is alleged, made that round sum out of the aerial ladder patent, purchased from Mrs. Uda by the Fire Department for $25,000. The testimony given before the Green investigating Committee went to show that Mrs. Mary Bell Scott Uda, the patentee for this country, assigned the patent to Mr. White for $15,000; that this shrewd official gave her $1,500 on account, and that when Comptroller Green finally paid her the $25,000, which was the price of the patent, as fixed by the contract between her and the Fire Commissioners, she handed the secretary the warrant and he gave her the balance of the $15,000. It was rather a complicated transaction, but its real nature is apparent from the fact that the patentee received $15,000 instead of $25,000, and that Mr. White received $10,000 for purchasing her claim. The exposé was first published in the HERALD of Sunday, and drew the attention of the world upon the hitherto rather obscure Secretary of the Fire Department. Leading Wall street operators, when reading the testimony in the HERALD, are reported to have declared their intention of taking a man with such a genius for making money at once into their partnership. Their outbursts of enthusiasm at Mr. White's brilliant coup de force are said to have been most ingenuous and touching.

MR. WHITE'S SUDDEN FAME.

Mr. White awoke on Sunday morning, read the HERALD and found himself famous. Perhaps he repeated Byron's famous lines and perhaps he didn't—history, it is to be feared, will never chronicle this fact. His acquaintances had never divined the wonderful financial genius hidden in that little, modest, unobtrusive man; they were amazed at the discovery. Nothing increases people's respect so much as the knowledge that you have made a nice little pile of money. Mr. White was known to flourish on the modest salary of $3,000, and as the earnings of subordinates in our departments are known to be subject to a mysterious process of contraction, his post had never been regarded as an enviable one from a remunerative point of view. But here was a nice little transaction, by which he cleared $10,000 in a day, and he received $1,000 worth of handshakes and congratulations from friendly and admiring politicians.

SKETCH OF MR. WHITE.

The reader will be curious to know the history of this remarkable man, his personal appearance and general information as to what manner of a man he is. A reporter of this journal endeavored to ascertain his birthplace yesterday, but found even that fact shrouded in obscurity and doubt. Mr. White burst so suddenly upon the horizon of fame that little is as yet known of him. His appearance is that of a dignified, serious, business-like Christian official. He is a decidedly small man, with a rather Puritan face, stiff mutton chop whiskers and a slow and impressive manner of speaking. He dresses very simply but in excellent taste, thus showing that, like many other able men, he seeks to shine not through the outer but through his inner qualities. His manner is suave, although rather stiff and formal, such as becomes a man who occupies the important position of Secretary of the Fire Department of the city of New York. Altogether he is a man very difficult to interview, although affable in his demeanor. There is one great quality, however, which endears him to reporters—he speaks the truth. He never says anything but what may be relied upon as true.

INTERVIEWING THE GREAT MAN.

The writer called upon Mr. White yesterday, and discovered him seated at his desk in the office of the Fire Commission. He expected to find the Secretary counting a huge pile of $100 bills, but there was not a vestige of the $10,000 to be seen anywhere: nor was Mr. White in an elated humor, but with the greatest dignity he replied to the polite request of the reporter to be informed of the truth of the charge made against him.

"Well, sir, I don't think I am obliged to tell the newspapers the facts before I lay them before the Commissioners. I think they ought to have them first."

REPORTER—Mr. White, is it true that you received the $10,000 as stated in the affidavit of Mrs. Uda?

Mr. WHITE—You are mistaken there. The affidavit stated no such thing.

Mr. White was rather confused during this interview and several times changed color.

REPORTER—Then you didn't receive the $10,000?

HE WISHES HE HAD THEM.

Mr. WHITE (after revolving it in his mind and on his chair for some time)—Well, sir, if you think it will do you any good to know it, I didn't receive any such sum (with a sigh and a look of regret). I wish I had $10,000; $10,000 come very handy in these days.

REPORTER—Very true. But there is also a statement that you are not alone in that transaction, but divided the money with some of the other officials of this Department?

Mr. WHITE—Well, sir, I don't know anything about that (Mr. White blushed as he said that). If there is any such thing I don't know it; that's all I can tell you. Before I would put such a statement into the papers I'd want some evidence to go upon.

Mr. White would say no more on the subject, declaring that his vindication would be laid before the Fire Commissioners in a day or two. He was then asked as to the aerial ladders ordered by the department, and said four were now being built at Concord, N. H., which are to cost $1,500 apiece.

DESCRIPTION OF THE LADDER.

The aerial ladder—called aerial in contradistinction to such as require to be supported against a building—has already been described in the HERALD. It consists of a truck, upon which the ladders are laid in sections. To each ladder is fastened a round rod, which when coupled forms a bannister or handrail from the bottom to the top. The ladders are run from the bed to the ground, fastened together and raised by aid of two cranks and levers situated between the front and rear, from a horizontal to a perpendicular. The ladder can be placed at any desired elevation up to 100 feet. Thus, when resting against the side of a house, and the wall is seen to topple, the ladder can be removed at once by simply giving the alarm and moving the truck, and those upon it are out of harm's way. It is claimed that it will greatly facilitate the escape of persons from burning houses and the operations of the firemen, in enabling them to play a stream upon fires even when the adjacent walls afford no support to ladders.

THE FIRE COMMISSIONERS

have already called upon Mr. White to explain his little transaction. The writer sought them yesterday afternoon at their office, but they had all deserted it, and left it to be taken care of by the secretary of the department. Mrs. Uda is said to be in Illinois, where she resides with her parents. She could undoubtedly shed much light on this curious affair, and tell whether she paid the money to Mr. White for somebody else, and what were the true causes that compelled her to make this heavy pecuniary sacrifice.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The regular weekly meeting of the Board of Health took place yesterday afternoon, at two o'clock. A small amount of routine business being transacted the Registrar of Vital Statistics reported that during the week ending on Saturday, the 17th inst., there were 572 deaths reported in this city. Precisely the same number as was reported in the previous week, and 21 more which occurred in that week were reported and verified in the succeeding week. With that addition the death rate in the week ending on the 10th inst. was equal to 29.65 per 1,000 inhabitants annually. This has been the average rate for the corresponding week in the past five years.

The following is a comparative statement of cases of contagious diseases reported for the week ending April 17, 1875:

Diseases	April 10.	April 17.
Typhus fever	4	3
Typhoid fever	10	10
Scarlet fever	39	45
Measles	3	8
Diphtheria	78	87
Smallpox	73	51
Cerebro-spinal meningitis	7	2

BOARD OF POLICE.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held yesterday morning the following business was transacted:—

A petition was received from ex-Sergeant Miller, of the Twenty-second precinct, asking leave to withdraw his plea of guilty to the charge of neglect of duty, for which he was recently dismissed, and to stand trial. Refused.

Captain Petty, of the Second precinct, reported the death of Patrolman Jeremiah Mahony, of his command, which occurred on the 17th inst.

The chief clerk read a resolution from the Board of Aldermen, adopted the 16th inst., severely condemnatory of the filthy condition of the streets of this city and requesting the Board of Police to clean them forthwith, especially in the Tenth, Eleventh and Seventeenth wards. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Street Cleaning.

Another resolution from the Board of Aldermen was read requesting the Board of Police to defer action indefinitely in the matter of abolishing the Twenty eighth precinct, as proposed by the former body in a previous resolution.

A communication was received from Superintendent Toucey, of the Hudson River Railroad, requesting that Patrolman Shelly, of the Nineteenth Sub-Precinct, be permitted to receive from him the sum of $100 as a reward for arresting Van Velser and Baxter, the alleged $33,000 robbers. The permission was granted.

The following were appointed patrolmen:—Thomas Hotman, William Roche, J. Mulligan, J. H. Riley, Cornelius Sheriin, John T. Kunkle and J. F. Sullivan.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

Mayor Wickham, accompanied by the Aldermanic Committee on Health, Messrs. Cole, Blessing and Morris, yesterday paid a visit to the buildings at the foot of West Fifty-ninth street, which the New York Stock Yard Company intend to use as an abattoir if they can get a permit from the Board of Health. Father Alfred Young, of the Paulist Fathers, and several property owners in the neighborhood, joined the Mayor and the committee in Fifty-ninth street, and when they reached the proposed abattoir the party were reinforced by Professor Chandler, President of the Board of Health, and Professor Draper, the superintendent and proprietor of the abattoir, foot of West Thirty-fourth street. The Mayor carefully examined the buildings and closely questioned every one present whose knowledge of abattoirs could give him any additional light on the mooted question, as to whether they were necessarily nuisances. He had but little time to ask many questions concerning the hog yard in the neighborhood, as the stench from it was not of a kind that admitted of much freedom of speech with any degree of comfort to even a talkative Alderman. The result of the visit was that when he returned to his office Mr. Wickham signed the resolutions lately passed by the Board of Aldermen which requests the Health Board not to grant a permit to the Stock Yard Company to carry on an abattoir business in the neighborhood, and which calls upon the Legislature to pass a law prohibiting the erection of abattoirs anywhere in the city below 110th street, and then only near tide water.

Comptroller Green and Corporation Counsel Smith were closeted together yesterday for over an hour with the Mayor, and speculation was rife among the politicians as to what it all meant. It was said to be a "very important" meeting, but whether it was or not could not be ascertained. As two men were busily engaged during the afternoon digging a deep hole in the City Hall Park, directly opposite the Mayor's office, some people were led to believe that the Mayor had decided, for the sake of harmony in the city government, to bury Mr. Green and Mr. Smith, with all the personal burdens of their respective offices, in a common grave. Still, as the hole was untenanted last evening after dark, it is charitable to suppose that the Mayor, if he had any idea of sending the two officials to grass, finally abandoned it. But there is still a question which yet remains to be answered:—"What is that hole in the Park intended for?"

The Comptroller's ticket, which received five whole votes at the election of the Tammany Sachems on Monday evening, gave the politicians a subject out of which to poke considerable fun yesterday. Some of the Aldermen now say that the five men who voted that ticket did so by mistake. Worse and worse.

THE DANGERS OF BARNEGAT INLET.

A petition has been sent to Commodore White, President of the United States Lighthouse Board, by a number of vessel captains, to request that action will be taken in regard to the channel at Barnegat Inlet. It is stated that vessels have already been sunk by striking the wreck of the steamship Idaho, which lies right in the channel. Commodore White's influence is invoked to have proper buoys placed on the wreck, or to have the sunken steamship removed. A vessel running from sea buoy No. 1 to can buoy No. 2 on a straight course will strike the wreck. Buoy No. 3 is sunk; also one formerly placed by it. Buoy No. 5 has disappeared altogether. In consequence of this negligence vessels are constantly imperilled. It is to be hoped the Lighthouse Board will take immediate steps to remedy this evil.

TRIPLE SHEET.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 1875.

From our reports this morning the probabilities are that the weather to-day will be cold and generally clear.

THE REVOLUTIONARY EXTRA which the HERALD printed, and for which the demand was enormous in Concord, Boston, Lexington and other New England towns, as well as at home, is still required by the public. We are glad to announce that, having preserved the plates of this Centennial edition, we shall be able to supply any reasonable demands from newsdealers in any part of the country.

WALL STREET YESTERDAY.—Stocks were irregular and in many instances lower. Foreign exchange was firm, money easy on call at three per cent and gold steady at 115⅛.

RUMORS OF CABINET CHANGES are floating about like icebergs upon tropical seas, and melting in the ocean which first buoys and then engulfs them. Now we are told that the Attorney General may soon retire. Well, who knows what next?

WE ARE GLAD TO NOTE that the Mitchel committee have adopted our suggestion of raising a fund for the relief of the bereaved family. It is far more sensible and decidedly more pleasing to the general public than an empty parade. Now, if the Hibernian societies would only see the advantages of devoting the money they spend in Patrick's Day processions to some great public work, how much better it would be also! We hope the collectors for the aid fund for Mrs. Mitchel will be successful. There is no reason why fifty thousand dollars should not be thus raised.

THE BILL to exempt lager beer from the provisions of all laws relating to "intoxicating and spirituous liquors" hangs fire in the Assembly, but will probably pass that body and die in the republican Senate. It is a democratic "free lager" bid for the German vote.

THE POPULARITY of the Tichborne cause is shown by the applause which greeted the dismissal of the complaint against Dr. Kenealy for libel. It is evident that the English masses regard the counsel and the client in this case as one, and the case has become something far more important than a mere struggle for the heritage of a nobleman's estate. It is a social question, in which the people are the opponents of the aristocratic government.

DUELLING IN PARIS.—The Paris editors when they quarrel are merciful to each other. They fight with swords, and wound each other in the hand. It is true that to disable an author's hand is to interfere with his work; but then he can be just as satirical through an amanuensis, especially if the latter has wit enough to make an improvement on the inflamed denunciations of his principal.

The Meaning of the German Menace.

The letter we print this morning recording the joy attending the reception of the Emperor of Austria as a guest in Italy—the Italy torn from him by the valor and persistence of Victor Emmanuel—accords sadly with the despatches we print in reference to the proposed interference of Germany with Belgium. As we understand these despatches Bismarck, dissatisfied with the reluctance of tiny Belgium to accept his masterful assumption of superiority in European politics, has sought the aid of Austria and Russia to enforce his demands. The situation is briefly this. Some time since there were rumors of a "plot" in Belgium "against the life of Bismarck." These were attended by "demonstrations on the part of the Jesuits and ultramontanists against the power of Germany." The exact nature of these demonstrations has never been vouchsafed to us, but we gather from the remarks of Lord Derby in the English Parliament that they must have been of a serious character, for they actuated Germany to address a note to England upon the subject. Germany in the attitude of complaint against Belgium—the strongest Power in Europe actually asking aid against one of the weakest Powers—is a wonder to those who take only the surface indications of European politics. But affairs on the Continent are never free from these wonders, and what we see now is only an indication of what may surprise us at any time in the extraordinary development of affairs.

Belgium occupies a unique position among the European countries. Nature and geography, which have so much to do with the politics of the modern world, have made it the battle ground of Europe. From the time of Cæsar to Napoleon embattled legions have contended in Belgium for the peace and the mastery of the Continent. Never a free and independent nation by the operation of natural causes, it has either been the vassal of some great Power like France or Spain, or erected, by the intervention of greater Powers, into a dependent independence, like what it now possesses. The people have shown marvellous industry and thrift. Although the climate and the soil have few advantages, compared with what is seen in Italy or Greece, for instance, the energy of the people has made it a beehive of industry and wealth. Belgium is now the busiest, wealthiest and most densely peopled country in Europe for its size. Lying on the edge of the Continent, like a mere flapping fringe on the edge of Germany and France—under the fogs and tides and damp, incessant mists of the pitiless ocean, not as large compared with the greater States as Delaware or Rhode Island compared with the United States, it has attained a higher and more substantial if not a more ostentatious prosperity than its neighbors. Ever since its independence has been guaranteed by the greater Powers the people have contented themselves with work. They have avoided the dissipation of politics. The influence of a wise King like the elder Leopold has been shown in this. The humbler glory of spinning and weaving has been more grateful than that which comes from the shock of battle and the roll of drums. Sheltered by its apparent insignificance from the contingencies which oppress other States, there has been no necessity for those cruel conscription laws and bloated armaments which distress the greater nations. The people have been always Catholic. They have never failed in their devotion to the Holy See. The only monarch who has sustained his filial relations to the Pope is the King of Belgium. The only country where a Catholic policy has absolutely ruled the governing councils is Belgium. They have never forgotten their neighborly relations with France. At one time, under the French rule, they show that affection for France and its institutions which seems inseparable from all countries who have ever fallen under their influence. The two things which Germany dreads in Europe are France and Catholicism, and Belgium is today French and Catholic.

The attitude of Bismarck toward Belgium is thus explained. In the first place, Belgium is French and Catholic. In the second place, her freedom is guaranteed by England. So long as England is a power on the Continent Germany has a rival which she cannot despise. The question must, sooner or later, arise how far will the policy of England be reconciled with that of Germany. Ever since Bismarck has attained power in Prussia his policy has been defiance. He has trampled upon the rights and feelings of any Power that did not bend to his will. Avowing in the beginning that his statesmanship was simply a question of blood and iron, he has warred with Austria and Denmark and France, and now threatens war with Belgium. However the German notes may be smothered in diplomatic rhetoric they mean war unless Belgium accepts the dictation of Bismarck. Nor would this acceptance be difficult or ill-timed from a small nation anxious only for peace and a chance to spin and dig. But Belgium is under the dictation of England. The independence of Belgium is as much an act of England as the dependence of Ireland. How, then, can the country serve two masters, and how can England guarantee the freedom of a cabinet which is asked to amend its laws to suit the will of the German Chancellor?

Therefore, if the diplomatic struggle between Germany and Belgium means anything, it means that England is the real party. How long will England consent to the policy of Germany? In other days we could easily answer this question, for England and Germany have always been united on questions of religion. But in the past few years there has grown up a strange sympathy between France and England. The hatred of centuries, under the influence of free trade, constant intercourse, commercial advantages and a more perfect knowledge of one another, has given place to a kind and permanent alliance. The last war gave France English sympathy. When Napoleon went limping from the field of Sedan a prisoner and an exile Englishmen remembered that he had been their ally against Russia. The harshness of the German policy in the matter of the indemnity and occupation—a harshness unredeemed by a single spark of courtesy or good feeling—produced a profound impression upon England and wounded its sense of fair play. Therefore in that contest which Bismarck has never ceased to prophesy since the fall of Sedan there is no certainty what England will do. If Germany means to govern Europe, as seems to be her ambition, she cannot count upon the aid of England. The story that she will be joined by Austria and Russia we believe to be a diplomatic fancy. If it were true then it would mean that Germany, Russia, Austria, Italy and Spain had come to an alliance against the sure enmity of France and the probable enmity of England.

We cannot resist the conclusion that the real meaning of the controversy between Germany and Belgium is an effort to solve the problem of English sympathy with the future of European politics. When Prussia made war upon Denmark ten years ago England came within an ace of interfering. The fact that she did not do so has always been remembered as a reproach to her, because she was bound to Denmark by ties of moral alliance. She stood by and saw the forlorn and distant Scandinavian Kingdom despoiled by the overmastering German Colossus. The impression has gone forth that, because of this, she will consent to any interference of Germany with other Powers; that she will not even protect Belgium; that she will feel that Bismarck, like Frederick the Great, is the defender of the Protestant faith against Papacy and wooden shoes. But those who suppose that England will be content to remain silent, inert, dormant, a jelly-fish among nations, caring nothing for the world around it, mistake the character of that strange and valiant race. The men who accepted the challenge of Napoleon and held on to him with mastiff grip for twenty years until they brought him down will not fly from Bismarck. If the menace to Belgium is really, as it seems to us, a challenge to England, it will be answered in time, and in the manner worthy of the men who conquered at Agincourt, Blenheim and Waterloo.

Mr. Beecher as a Missionary.

A correspondent informs us that kissing is unknown in China. Civilization in that country has never been considered to be as fully developed as it is in the East, and the Chinese are undoubtedly ignorant of much with which younger nations are familiar. Human nature, as Mme. de Staël says, is the same everywhere, and there will be found nothing all over the world but men, women and children. To Americans kissing seems to be so natural that we can hardly understand how the Chinese are ignorant of the art. Indeed, if we should physiologically enter into an investigation of the subject the mystery would become more profound.

Our intelligent correspondent proposes that, as the art of kissing appears to be entirely unknown to the Chinese, missionaries should be sent from this country to give them the proper instruction. He wishes to export the Rev. Mr. Beecher as the champion kisser of the United States. Paroxysmal, paternal, sisterly, reconciliatory and inspirational kisses appear to be as familiar to Mr. Beecher as household words. The honorable defendant, according to his own account, has done a great deal of kissing. He has kissed Mrs. Tilton (sisterly), Mrs. Moulton (inspirationally), Mr. Moulton (experimentally), Mr. Oliver Johnson (unwillingly), Sam Wilkeson (unavoidably), Mr. Evarts (professionally), Mr. Shearman (indignantly), Bessie Turner (fatherly) and Theodore Tilton (reconciliatory). After this extraordinary experience in osculatory performance Mr. Beecher should certainly be fully qualified to teach the barbarians all that they are ignorant of in the delicate art. Brooklyn might probably miss him, but Pekin would be the gainer. If he should, after the trial, consent to go to China in the capacity of a Plymouth missionary he might conjugate the verb "to kiss" with greater success than he has done at home. The conjugation "I kiss Tilton, thou kissest Tilton, he kisses Johnson, Johnson kisseth us, Wilkeson kisseth Bowen, Bowen kisseth Beecher," might have wider application in the experience of Oriental climates. But as Mr. Beecher has kissed almost everybody in Brooklyn it would be a pity if he should go to the home of the Brother of the Sun and Moon and leave the unkissed Mrs. Morse out of the category.

The Louisiana Reform.

The Legislature of Louisiana has been organized under conditions different from those to which any other Legislature in the history of the country has been subject. It is the creation of the people modified by a compromise. The whole country is interested in its action as an experimental effort to reconcile the factions of a passionate State and to redeem the wrongs which a free people have endured from a national administration. The North therefore watches its action with extreme interest. But it does not follow that because Louisiana is willing to faithfully execute the terms of the Wheeler compromise she should be utterly blind to the wrongs of delinquent and corrupt officials. The resolution which Mr. Lowell, a republican member of the House, introduced yesterday, to impeach for high crimes and misdemeanors the Hon. Mr. Clinton, the Auditor of Public Accounts, is therefore no violation of the political compact into which the conservatives and radicals entered by unanimous consent. The country will approve no compromise which recognizes wrong, and will approve every effort that is sincerely made to purify the government of the State. There has been a great deal of stealing in Louisiana, and any effort to discover the guilty parties will have the moral support of the nation. We cannot expect the South to be prosperous and peaceful till the State governments are honest and independent of federal control.

THE ROWDY'S KNIFE has been busy in Brooklyn, and peaceful and unoffending citizens have been struck to death by a ruffian without provocation. No doubt the lax administration of our laws has much to do with the prevalence of this murderous spirit. Were rowdies convinced that the mere drawing of a knife, though no injury were inflicted, would consign them to a lengthened imprisonment, these cases of stabbing would be less frequent. Few of these men draw their knives with a deliberate intention to kill, but the blow sped in a moment of passion makes them murderers. The cure is in discouraging the carrying about of dangerous weapons by the rough element, and this can only be done by punishing in an exemplary manner all persons guilty of using deadly weapons in street brawls.

Which of the State Officers Does the Governor Wish to Remove?

The Removal bill was debated with some sharpness in the Senate yesterday. The ground of objection to it most dwelt upon was the danger of intrusting so much power to party governors of the ordinary stripe. Governors like Tilden or like Dix might not abuse such a power; but who can answer for the conduct of unscrupulous party politicians in that office? If Governor Tilden had a life tenure of his office it might be safe to make over all powers of the State administration into his hands; but nobody can vouch for the character of his unknown successors. So much authority would be less objectionable if the other State officers were elected at the same time as the Governor. In that case they would all belong to the same political party, and he could have no party motive for making removals. But in point of fact all the heads of the executive departments are chosen by the people in a different year from the gubernatorial election; and if they should belong to one party and the Governor chosen the next year should belong to the other there might be a strong temptation to remove them on trumped up charges for the purpose of giving the Governor's political friends a majority in the Canal Board, of which those officers elected at a different time from the Governor always form a majority. If all the State officers were chosen at one time it might be safe enough to allow the Governor to remove his political friends elected on the same ticket and by the same party as himself. In that case he would be under no temptation to make removals on false pretexts.

If there are any particular State officers now in power whom Governor Tilden desires to remove the Legislature could act more intelligently if he would let it be known who they are. When the bill was before this Legislature for conferring upon Mayor Wickham the same power which Governor Tilden asks for himself nobody was kept in ignorance of the specific use which the Mayor would have made of the authority. It was because the Governor knew at which of the heads of municipal departments the bill was aimed that he exerted his influence to have it defeated. If Governor Tilden would disclose his precise aims with the same candid frankness the Legislature could act with a more intelligent perception of the effect of this Removal bill. As he set his face against the bill for conferring on the Mayor the same kind of power which he asks for himself, he should not be surprised at the hesitation of Senators to gratify his wishes. It is supposable enough that the next Governor of the State may be in no respect superior to Mayor Wickham; and if our worthy Mayor, against whose integrity there has never been a breath of suspicion, cannot, in the Governor's estimation, be trusted to remove city officers for cause, it would seem an assumption of superior virtue for the Governor to ask precisely similar powers in relation to State officers. Inasmuch as the heads of city departments are appointees of the Mayor, and the heads of State departments are elected by the people, it would seem that the Mayor's power of removal, instead of being more restricted, ought to be more free and untrammelled than that of the Governor. It does not become any Governor to ask such a power as a mere mark of personal confidence in himself. It is hardly in good taste for the Governor to arrogate to himself lofty moral superiority to a Mayor whose integrity was never challenged. The people of this city have a right to demand that Governor Tilden be consistent. Let him stand on some defensible principle. If it be a sound principle that the Chief Executive should have power to remove subordinate officers, let him acknowledge that what is sauce for the Governor is sauce for the Mayor, unless, like Comptroller Green, he thinks honesty is in so few hands as to be a monopoly. What good reason can he assign why Mayor Wickham may not safely be trusted with the same power of removal which he asks for himself?

Mayor Wickham honestly showed his hand, but Governor Tilden conceals his. So far as frankness and open-dealing are a title to confidence the advantage is on the side of the Mayor. The public have been in no doubt as to whom Mayor Wickham wished to remove, and the opponents of the Costigan bill acted with full intelligence. But the supporters and adversaries of the Removal bill are called to legislate in the dark. Why does not the Governor give some intimation as to which of the State officers he wishes to remove? If nobody in particular, then there is no particular reason why the bill should be passed at this session. There will be a State election in November, at which the people will choose six of the nine members of the Canal Board—a two-thirds majority. If, therefore, there is no immediate necessity for removals, the Governor is asking a mere mark of personal confidence in himself. It would be beneath the dignity of the Legislature to pass an innovating law as a mere compliment to Mr. Tilden. If the Governor does not want power to remove any of the present State officers, but only the officers who are to be elected next November, his request implies a distrust of the people. What present reason has he to fear that honest officers will not be chosen by the people in the next election? Why should he ask legislation against such a contingency? There is no excuse for his request unless he thinks some of the present State officers are knaves. But which are they? Ex-Governor Seymour was interviewed a week or two since by the reporter of a leading democratic organ, and he expressed the opinion that the power of removal will not be exercised by Governor Tilden when he gets it. What, then, does he want it for? If it is to lie dormant, as mere brutum fulmen, it can be of little practical consequence whether the bill passes or not.

THE INDIANS continue to give trouble, and always will until the savage tribes are taught a Sheridan lesson and the peaceful tribes are done justice by the Quaker policy. Our Indian management has been a blunder almost since the time of Penn.

THE BEECHER TRIAL.—There are rumors that the climax of the Beecher trial will be reached to-day. The climax has been reached so often that we despair of any decisive information until Mr. Bowen's testimony makes further excitement impossible.

The Centennial Celebration as a Means of Education.

One excellent effect of the commemorative observances begun at Lexington and Concord on Monday, and likely to be kept up for the ensuing year or two, is the widespread popular interest in early American history. Mr. Bancroft's copyrights and the copyrights of Mr. Irving's heirs will have their value increased in the period through which we are passing; but that is a small matter in comparison with the great flood of information which will be poured before the public in the daily press, and which will find hundreds of readers for every one who purchases and peruses the volumes of our popular authors. The mass of our people eagerly read newspapers, but not books; and they are no losers when the press is so active and alert as it is in this country. The HERALD, for example, has, within the last five days, thrown more light on the events of April 19, 1775, than can be gathered from the pages of our popular historians. It has not merely republished the chapters of Bancroft and Irving which recount those interesting transactions, but it has spread before its readers a great mass of original documents and fac-similes of the newspapers of the time, which give as graphic a picture as we are accustomed to present of exciting contemporary events. We have, moreover, reproduced all the patriotic poems in which men of genius have breathed forth the soul of those remarkable transactions, freed from the encumbrance of minor details and adorned with the striking incidents which touch the popular heart and are embalmed in the public memory. In life, force and picturesque effect there is no comparison between what is found in the pages of historians and the more vivid representations which the HERALD has given of the same transactions. Besides, the digested information presented in such admirable orations as those of Mr. Curtis and Mr. Dana, who have gone over the subject in the light of recent researches, gives the best record and the most enlightened views. There has been no point of time between 1775 and 1875 when the American public has been so minutely and accurately informed respecting the opening scenes of our Revolution as it is to-day, in consequence of the recent celebrations.

If the other events of the great struggle for independence shall be as fully and picturesquely brought out in connection with ensuing centennial celebrations the American people will have a more intelligent appreciation of our revolutionary history than has been possessed at any former period. Such information is a necessary element of our national life. Without it, and without the national spirit and national pride which can come from no other source, we are a mere accidental agglomeration of sojourners bound to one another by no strong common tie. There can be no true national unity where currents of national life do not pulsate and throb through the whole body, and it is only through our patriotic historical recollections that we can reach unity of sentiment and feeling. The great revival of national spirit which we may expect from the wide diffusion of what is admirable in our history in this interesting epoch is especially valuable in reference to our large and increasing immigrant population. Unlike our native population, they have not inherited the feeling and the traditions of our revolutionary era. A great portion of them will acquire their first real knowledge of that part of our annals which is best fitted to foster a just national pride through the centennial celebrations which will occupy so much of public attention during the ensuing two years. If the fathers of the Republic were really as great and admirable as the illustrious Lord Chatham deemed them, if his splendid eulogy which gave them precedence in the order of merit of the wisest men of the master States of antiquity was deserved, our whole population, immigrant and native-born, cannot but profit by the education in American history which has now commenced with such splendid vigor and promise.

The Legislature and the Canals.

Since Governor Tilden laid before the country his admirable Canal Message, in which the frauds of the Canal Ring were so clearly and effectively exposed, we have been struck by the number of political leaders and retired State functionaries to whom the evils pointed out and the remedies suggested in that able State paper have long been familiar. Ex-Governor Hoffman has been the last to favor us with a review of what he knew about canal matters during his term of office and of the policy he favored. It would have been fortunate if these gentlemen had possessed the tact and vigor in assailing corruption and the energy in pressing reforms manifested by Governor Tilden, as in that case the people of the State might have saved many millions of dollars unjustly taken from the treasury. But as they all agree with the Governor that gross corruptions exist in our canal management, and that material changes in our policy are demanded for the public protection, we have a right to expect that they will strengthen his hands in his efforts to bring to justice those who have defrauded the State and to secure wholesome reformatory laws from the Legislature. To this end they will perform better service by earnest appeals to our representatives at Albany to adopt some practical measures for the protection of the State before they adjourn than by criticisms of the Governor's recommendations and speculations over what might have been.

The Legislature has not yet made for itself a good record on canal matters. The deplorable indiscretions of the Speaker of the Assembly and of Senator Lord when the exposure was first made cast the suspicion of insincerity over all subsequent professions from the same influential quarters of a willingness to favor investigation. The appointment of a joint legislative committee of investigation was an idle show, and was not unjustifiably suspected to be a trick in favor of the Canal Ring. It would have been far better for the reputation of the Senate and Assembly if they had accepted the Governor's allegations as well founded and set themselves seriously to work during the brief remainder of the session to enact laws calculated to protect the people against similar corruptions in the future. This would have afforded practical proof that the Legislature was not under the control of the Canal Ring, but earnestly desirous of acting in the public interest. A hurried investigation by a legislative committee could not possibly have any beneficial result. The laws recently enacted in relation to frauds on the people are sufficient to enable the Governor and the Attorney General to reach and punish any person who may have robbed the public treasury without the aid of a legislative investigation, and Governor Tilden is not likely to neglect to avail himself of their provisions. The fact that abuses actually exist in our canal management and that under the present system the people are robbed and the canals wronged has never been denied even by a Lord or a McGuire. There could be no good reason, therefore, why remedies should not be supplied and safeguards erected by legislation; hence the waste of time on a useless investigation in the closing hours of a session naturally appeared to many like an attempt to prevent any interference with the privileges and profits of the Ring.

We now warn the Senators and Assemblymen that if they neglect to pass some practical reformatory law in relation to the canal management they will be branded by the people as the accomplices or creatures of the Canal Ring. Differences of opinion will naturally exist as to the most desirable plan of reform; but if our representatives are honest they will harmonize these differences and agree upon some legislation in view of the urgency of the case. They will not allow any trifling disagreement as to details to confirm the men who are plundering the State and injuring commerce in the undisturbed possession of their power. No matter whether the Davis bill or any other bill may be agreed upon, the evils to be reached are well known, the remedies to be applied are patent, and a failure to act on the subject will stamp the present Legislature with a character as infamous as that of any of its infamous predecessors.

LOVE MURDERS.—Another person who describes himself as a lover has committed murder. It appears he coveted the possession of the woman he killed, and because she scorned his love he slew her. This will be attributed to madness, and, doubtless, it is a species of insanity. But it may be fairly questioned whether it is of a kind that society may safely accept as condoning the crime committed. There is evidence enough on hand to show that this last outrage was not the result of a sudden and uncontrollable outburst of passion, but the deliberately planned act of a disappointed and brutal man. Under these circumstances it is to be hoped that the full measure of the law may be dealt out to the assassin. The lawyers will, no doubt, be ready to argue for the irresponsibility of the murderer; but a man who has sense enough to plan a deliberate murder ought to be held to possess enough sense to justify his being hanged.

THE MINERS, as our despatches from the Pennsylvania coal regions indicate, are uncertain whether it is to their interest to continue the strike, and have called a meeting of their Executive Council to consider the subject. With moderation on both sides, and with the withdrawal of the military, we think a satisfactory adjustment might be effected. It will not be wise to exasperate these men by the display of military force after the emergency is ended.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL question, in reference to religion, was discussed yesterday by some of our churches, whose deliberations are elsewhere reported. It is surprising to see Roman Catholic rights defended by Protestant divines.

VALMASEDA'S HAND is beginning to make itself visible in the conduct of the Cuban war. Whatever the faults of that General may be he is certainly not lacking in energy. He is bringing into the field such a force of volunteers as no previous Captain General could command; and if the forces under Gomez can make head against the gathering battalions which Valmaseda is bringing together for a supreme effort Cuba may be looked upon as definitely lost to Spain.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

Now for a new edition of "Norwood."

Professor L. H. Atwater, of Princeton College, is staying at the Everett House.

Bishop Jackson, of Antigua, is among the late arrivals at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Colonel Thomas H. Ruger, Commandant of West Point, is sojourning at the Hoffman House.

State Treasurer F. L. Cardozo, of South Carolina, is stopping at the Westmoreland Hotel.

Cardinal Manning anticipates a "fiery crisis." We thought all the cardinals would escape that.

Captain John Mirehouse, of the steamship City of Montreal, is quartered at the New York Hotel.

That was a happy stroke of the lawyers to find the real significance of "nest-hiding" in Norwood.

Mr. Van Pestel, Dutch Minister at Washington, has taken up his residence at the Hoffman House.

Another theory about that first shot—It was probably fired by an Irishman in the British army.

General P. V. Hagner, of the Ordnance Department, United States Army, has arrived at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Right Rev. John J. Williams, Roman Catholic Bishop of Boston, arrived last evening at the Everett House.

There are some things, then, that Mr. Beecher does not want to say to Mr. Fullerton with "emphatical accuracy." Why?

Some of the London press men seem to fancy that Schenck's retirement from London is in consequence of that treatise on poker. They don't know us.

A circular letter from the Archbishop of Quebec, Canada, has been read in all the Roman Catholic churches, ordering public prayers for the cessation of the smallpox.

Messrs. William Johnson, H. C. Connelly and Charles Kellogg, a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Canals, arrived in this city last evening from Albany.

On April 5 Paul Boynton showed the operation of all his life-saving apparatus to Queen Victoria, in Cowes Harbor. Her Majesty and the royal family were on the yacht Alberta.

General Prevost, commanding the First division, National Guards of Pennsylvania, has tendered his resignation to Governor Hartranft. This is supposed to have grown out of a disagreement between them.

The levée held by Cardinal Manning in London was attended by all the members of the Catholic hierarchy in England, save the Bishop of Shrewsbury, and an immense assembly of the Catholic nobility and gentry. The Duke of Norfolk, the Marquis of Ripon, Lord Denbeigh, Lord Gainsborough, Lord Howard of Glossop, and twenty members of the House of Commons were present.

In the last published part of the German history of the war this order appears as issued August 20, 1870:—"In case the enemy should pass on to the Belgian territory, and should not be disarmed immediately, follow without awaiting further instructions. DE MOLTKE."

If any officer had blundered into Belgium on that occasion they might not have punished him severely.

FIRST DAY OF THE EPSOM SPRING MEETING—DALHAM THE WINNER OF THE CITY AND SUBURBAN HANDICAP—DOWNFALL OF THE FAVORITE.

LONDON, April 20, 1875.

The Epsom spring meeting commenced to-day. A great crowd of spectators were in attendance and the weather was beautiful. The great race of the meeting—the City and Suburban Handicap—was run during the day, and was won by Dalham by half a length, Freeman coming in second and Tam o' Shanter third. Timour started favorite at 6 to 1, but ran badly. The other betting was 40 to 1 against Dalham, 16 to 1 against Freeman, and 14 to 1 against Tam o' Shanter. The following is a summary:—

The City and Suburban Handicap of 15 sovs. each, 10 forfeit, and only 5 if declared by February 2, with 200 sovs. added; the owner of the second horse receives 50 sovs. out of the stakes; winners extra; closed with 101 subscribers, 35 of whom pay 5 sovs. each; 24 started; about one mile and a quarter.

THE MINERS' STRIKE.

COMING MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE BOARD—PROPOSITIONS LEADING TO A RESUMPTION OF WORK TO BE DISCUSSED—SIGNS OF WEAKENING.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 20, 1875.

A meeting of the Executive Board of the Miners and Laborers' Benevolent Association has been called, to convene at Pottsville on the 22d of April, when the question will be discussed and voted whether to continue the strike or not. A circular has been issued calling on every member to be present. The dissatisfaction existing among some miners, as telegraphed yesterday, arises from a secret circular issued to each branch, which says the time has arrived when a change of programme is necessary; that there is great scarcity of coal, notwithstanding the suspension has not been general; that there is a heavy demand for coal, and many individual operators of collieries are in such condition that if work does not proceed immediately they will be unable to ship coal during the year, and the miners are becoming poor. The following propositions are to be voted:—

THE PROPOSITIONS OF THE MINERS.

First—That the demand for the $2 75 and $3 basis be withdrawn, on the ground that we are willing to make that much concession to the professed necessities of our operators, and that the demand is not general through all the regions.

Second—That members of the union shall return to work for whoever will pay the basis, regardless whether it be signed for the year or not; but that no coal be shipped from the collieries of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company until such time as a final settlement has been made by the committees of the Coal Exchange and the Miners and Laborers' Benevolent Association.

This resolution will allow dead work to be done for the Coal and Iron Company. If the above propositions are not accepted it is suggested that some measures be devised for sending a number of people to places where mining is now being done, and that as much money as can be had, and which is not absolutely needed to buy bread for the poorest, be devoted to helping those who are willing to go away, but have not the money to take them. It would be much better to do this, even if compelled to go to Luzerne county and other like places where, though wages have been reduced, the reduction is not so great as that proposed to us. A certain amount of coal must be shipped to supply the market, but it is not good policy for us to go to cut it where the reduction is the least.

THE GENERAL IMPRESSION

is that this circular shows signs of weakness among the entire organization, and the leaders are charged with attempting to destroy private mines and cripple business for the remainder of the year. Many miners are leaving the region to seek employment elsewhere. Ten thousand persons are employed in the coal trade in this region, and the result of the meeting next Thursday is anxiously looked for by all classes. It is impossible to predict the result at this time, though it is generally conceded, if left to a direct vote of the miners, there would be a resumption of work at every colliery immediately.

WASHINGTON.

GENERAL WASHINGTON DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, April 20, 1875.

THE RUMORED RETIREMENT OF ATTORNEY GENERAL WILLIAMS.

Among the later rumors of Cabinet changes is one to the effect that Attorney General Williams will soon retire from his present position. He does not absolutely deny the truth of the report, but admits that it is probable that he may before long engage in other pursuits. Some of his most intimate friends say that the indication is that he will resign at the end of the fiscal year, if not sooner.

REPORTS FROM THE CHEYENNE AGENCY.

The following was received at the Indian Bureau to-day:

OFFICE UNITED STATES INDIAN AGENT, CHEYENNE AND ARAPAHOE AGENCY, DARLINGTON, I. T., April 10, 1875.

HON. EDW. P. SMITH, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Washington, D. C.:—

In continuation of my report of the 7th inst., in regard to the status of Indian affairs at this agency, I have to say that on the afternoon of the 7th inst., we had a "roll call" of friendly Cheyennes, with the following result:—Cheyennes, Whirlwind's band—Men present, 66; absent, 14. Total, 80. Of the above absentees seven have returned, being out after horses when the roll was called, and five additional of the remaining seven have been accounted for. But of the party of eleven Northern Cheyennes, who came with Fox Tail, nine have left the agency, and it is supposed they have joined the hostiles.

No definite information of the exact locality or intentions of the escaped hostile Cheyennes have reached this office. The women and children belonging to the camp are being concentrated at the camps of Whirlwind and Little Robe, and already number several hundred. It is now definitely known that in the affairs of the 6th inst. nine men and two women were killed and a number wounded, some of whom have since died. The troops suffered severely in wounded, but there have been no deaths up to date. The one man reported killed, in my letter of the 7th inst., was badly wounded, but not killed. Information will be forwarded as fast as received. Respectfully, J. A. COVINGTON, Acting Agent.

CONDITION OF THE CHICKASAWS.

General J. P. C. Shanks, Special Commissioner of the Indian Bureau to the Indian Territory, writes to Commissioner Smith, under date of the Chickasaw Reservation, April 15, as follows:—

The drought injured these people; the grasshoppers did not. The Chickasaws have a law that provides $50 per annum to each blind, lame and helpless member of the Chickasaws, which covers cases of extreme need. Those who have no grain, with few exceptions, have cattle to sell and can produce grain. The growing wheat looks well and will be in in two months. Grass is plenty and milk cattle are doing well. The people are working well. Corn is generally planted. The late crops did not do as well last year, and crops are planted earlier this spring than usual. I think this necessity has not injured them as a people materially.

THE SIOUX TREATY.

Since April last Senators Hitchcock and Paddock, of Nebraska, and Delegate Steele, of Wyoming, have been interesting themselves concerning the proposed new treaty with the Sioux, whose lands extend into that State and Territory. Owing to the last named fact the lands cannot be surveyed and the settlers obtain the title to the soil they occupied before the present treaty was made with the Sioux. These Indians, under their treaty rights, make portions of Nebraska and Wyoming their hunting grounds. The new treaty will, however, remove the present obstructions to settlement.

LOUISIANA.

REPORT OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS—PROPOSED IMPEACHMENT OF AUDITOR CLINTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 20, 1875.

The majority report of the House Committee on Elections and Qualifications, declaring George B. Buckhardt, of Orleans; O. L. Collins, of St. Helena; Charles Delhomme and Felix Voorheis, of St. Martin, entitled to the seats now occupied by Richards, Rocheon, Floyd and Martinette, was adopted by 61 yeas to 32 nays. Before the above action in the House the Senate had adjourned until to-morrow. Before adjourning, however, a resolution was introduced unseating Goode and reseating Crozier.

CASE OF AUDITOR CLINTON.

Mr. Lowell, (rep.) Chairman of the Committee of the House to examine the books of the Auditor, submitted a report, which closed as follows:—

Your committee further report that upon the evidence collected by them and in virtue of the powers and duties imposed upon them by the laws of the State under which they were appointed, they are of the opinion that Charles Clinton, Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Louisiana, be impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors. They, therefore, recommend to the House the adoption of the accompanying resolution:—

Resolved, That Charles Clinton, Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Louisiana, be impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors in office.

The report went over under the rules.

THE DAY AFTER.

SCENES AT CONCORD AND LEXINGTON FOLLOWING THE CELEBRATION—DEPARTURE OF THE MULTITUDE.

LEXINGTON, Mass., April 20, 1875.

This town and Concord appear to-day in striking contrast to the scenes presented on the 19th. The streets of the latter town, which were yesterday thronged with 30,000 people, are to-day quite deserted. The community has relapsed into its habitual state of quietude and a Sabbath stillness reigns where twenty-four hours ago all was commotion. The noon trains, North, South and East, on both roads, carried away the last of the visitors, whose slumbers, after the reveiries of the night, were prolonged to late in the forenoon. All the flags which were stretched across the streets have been taken down. Most of the decorations have been removed from the public and private buildings, and the town has been shorn of the patriotic habiliments donned for the occasion. The caterer has struck his tents, and the mammoth canvas pavilions have been removed, leaving long files of empty tables to receive the solitary and hungry observer of the feast which was so suddenly swept away.

AT LEXINGTON

the scene is far more stirring. The noon train of a dozen cars was filled with departing guests. Flags and streamers still float in the breeze. The tents on the Common have been taken down and the work of transferring the statues of Adams and Hancock from the Common to Memorial Hall has commenced. The bands of roughs which invaded the town yesterday afternoon left on the late trains and many of them were compelled to return to Boston on the tops of cars.

RAILROAD THIEVES CAPTURED.

LARGE QUANTITIES OF THE STOLEN GOODS RECOVERED.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 20, 1875.

For several months the railroads centring here have been the victims of a series of robberies of merchandise. Yesterday morning it was discovered that several cars on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad here had been broken open. The police tracked the thieves and last night arrested four. To-day four more were arrested, among them a merchant, by the name of Kratti, who had been selling the stolen property from his store. The others were railroad employés, with the exception of one, a farmer, living several miles south of the city, who would pick up the various packages of goods as they were thrown from the train and haul them into the city.

The gang was well organized and had been carrying on its depredations for several months. A large quantity of stolen goods, consisting of barrels of whiskey and sugar, boxes of tobacco and boots and shoes, has been recovered.

ART SALE.

A number of interesting works of art will be sold to-day at the residence of Colonel Chapman, the well known Brooklyn art collector, whose collection of pictures at the Leavitt art gallery is attracting so much notice in art circles. The gallant Colonel is obliged to give up housekeeping, owing to the delicate state of his wife's health. The sale of his household goods to-day will include many rare objects of virtu and several works in statuary by celebrated European sculptors. It is to be regretted that so fine a collection of art works, representing well nigh fifteen years' careful selection, should be dispersed, but we understand the doctors have so strongly advised the breaking up of the household that it was unavoidable.

THE COURT BALL—A GENERAL ILLUMINATION

VENICE, April 6, 1875.

Venice did indeed, yesterday, seem to live again one of her days of earlier glory and festal life. Certainly in the recent annals of the Queen of the Adriatic there have been no grander and more picturesque festivals than those yesterday in honor of the meeting of the monarchs of Austria and Italy, of the Emperor Francis Joseph and King Victor Emmanuel. From early morning till midnight the canals and the Piazza of St. Mark presented scenes of wonderful picturesque beauty and grandeur. Every church rang out its joyous peal, the Grand Canal was at one time a picture charming as any presented in earlier centuries, when "every gale breathed music" as the Adriatic Queen reigned and "celebrated her nuptials with the sea," in commemoration of Ziani's victory over the fleet of Frederick Barbarossa. There was nothing to mar the fête. Beautiful, glowing sunshine fell upon the city during the greater part of the day, and though at a later hour the sky became clouded the heavens were gracious and permitted the entire programme of aquatic cortége, royal promenades and illuminations to be carried out in a most brilliant and attractive manner.

THE VENETIANS AND THE AUSTRIANS.

Much has been written about the meeting of the two monarchs and its political significance; about the magnanimity of the Venetians in giving cordial welcome to their old oppressor, and such like; but still more should be said about the noble, self-denying deed of Francis Joseph, who visits the very city where he suffered humiliation, the city wrested from him by the Italians at a fatal moment when he was assailed by the powerful foe of the North. There are a few people still in Venice and a few journals in Italy who prate very senseless stuff and recall at this very moment the oppression of the Austrians during their dominion here, and have counselled the Venetians to give the Austrian Emperor a cool reception. I heard when in Rome that some of the Venetian Austrian-eaters had determined to leave Venice before the fêtes, and believe that a few families have left the city, but these are exceptional cases. One Venetian comic journal, issued only a few days ago, brings out a series of pictures about the event, and I notice them only to show you the feeling that is entertained by certain foolish persons who have the ear of the lower classes. One represents the symbolical on the balcony of a palace to whom Francis Joseph, playing a guitar, is singing a song of love and friendship, to which the lady replies scornfully that the music of the Manin fêtes of a week ago was much more acceptable to her ears than any Austrian melody he can play. In another sheet we have two pictures of St. Mark's square. On the one we see the Austrian military band playing to the deserted piazza and the four gilded horses. This is entitled "Yesterday." On the other, entitled "To-day," we see the Italian military band, in the same place, listened to by thousands of people, while over them hang suspended in harmony the banners of Italy and Austria. As to the former picture, it treats of scenes that every guide book and Venetian tout will tell you about with pride. I suppose the incident is true—that the Venetians did desert the square while the Austrian military bands were discoursing their sweetest seductive strains—but do not believe it entirely. "The price of polenta," as a friend said to me the other day, "had a great deal to do with Venetian loyalty."

THE GREETING OF THE MONARCHS.

Yesterday's fête comprised the greeting of the two monarchs at the railroad depot, the aquatic cortége thence to the royal palace, a banquet of the two monarchs and their suites, the illuminations and court ball. Victor Emmanuel arrived in the city at eleven on Sunday, as did the Italian Princes and Princess Margherita, while Francis Joseph, with his suite, arrived at the station at eleven yesterday morning. I saw the greeting of the two monarchs. A few minutes before the arrival of the imperial train Victor Emmanuel might have been seen standing at the edge of the platform looking eagerly at the approaching train. By his side stood Prince Umberto, with his large, bushy mustache and curious eyes, and a little behind Prince Amadeo, looking sad, as if he still pondered over his renounced crown and destroyed ambition, and Prince Tommaso, of Genoa, in his naval uniform, resembling somewhat in features the Duke of Edinburgh, but decidedly more refined and dignified. Arranged on the platform were a company of carabinieri and a company of the regular army, with its music corps, and immediately back of the King a group of Italian and Austrian officers and officials and a few correspondents of English, American and Austrian journals, some of whom had received invitations from the prefect and others had managed to find a back door of ingress. I think every journal of the Austro-Hungarian Empire must have been represented there, from the New Free Press, of Vienna, down to the Monkswedel Zeitung and the Schweinheimer Sonntagsblatt, the rough representatives of the latter class of papers of course securing the lion's share of the tickets for balls, theatres, dinners, free lunches, and excursions that were to be distributed to the press.

EMBRACING THE OPPORTUNITY.

Victor Emmanuel could scarcely conceal his nervous emotion. His enormous mustache curled clear up to his eyes, and his eyes sought a resting place somewhere among the rafters of the depot. With uncovered head, dressed in the national uniform, he awaited his guest. The train, drawn by a tastefully flagged locomotive, came slowly in, and Francis Joseph eagerly descended the steps of his carriage before the cars had stopped, and, hat in hand, hastened, smiling all over his face, to greet his royal host.

THE SALUTATIONS

of the monarchs were most cordial: they kissed each other warmly on the cheek and stood for a few moments with hands clasped, talking eagerly, while the band played the beautiful air of the Austrian national hymn:—

Gotterhalte Franz den Kaiser.

It was a pleasant scene, this cordial greeting of the two monarchs, formerly deadly enemies, the victor and the defeated of 1866. A great contrast, these two historical figures—Francis Joseph, blond, slightly built, clad in his gay uniform, and rejoicing in the sunniest, most joyful mood; Victor Emmanuel, short, thick, ungainly, with his great, huge features, but from which beamed a spirit of warmth and pleasure and friendliness that made one forget their very ugliness. Emmanuel then presented his sons to his guest, and the two monarchs walked chatting and smiling, down the long platform out on to the open space in front of the depot, where they were received by the cheers of thousands of people who had gathered on the river, in the gondolas, and on the square and steps of the Church of St. Scalzi, and as they emerged the sun broke forth from the clouds, as if he, too, had been waiting to bring his greetings, and poured down upon the brilliant scene the glow of warmth and light, that was needed to bring out the wonderful wealth of colors displayed on the waters of the canal.

THE CORTEGE ON THE GRAND CANAL—A BRILLIANT SCENE.

The silent highway of the Grand Canal is especially adapted, from its picturesqueness and beauty, to the production of scenic displays by day or night, which rival in magnificence the most gorgeous pageantries of the stage. No theatrical artifice can produce the splendid effects of water reflection when the rich marble façades and the delicate carvings are multiplied in a thousand ripples and bits of rich color are deepened and nourished in strength by the wonderful repetition in the broad belt of quiet water that winds through Venice, the great artery of the city, one long gallery of architectural monuments and artistic combinations of form and color. The canal is a succession of pictures of rare beauty, even under the most unfavorable aspect. One strip of bright bunting will give a luxurious appearance to the most decaded palace front, for in its moist atmosphere its harsh tone is subdued and mystified and the charitable canal flashes up a reflection that transforms calico to cramoisy velvet; the commonest stuffs to the richest draperies. So the neglected façades, gradually falling into the sea, become in the pearly mist of the Grand Canal stately fronts with all their original perfection of architecture. In the presence of the charming scene one forgets that its glory is but hollow and that behind this beautiful exterior is hidden as much decay and neglect, filth and accompanying wretchedness as centres in other Italian cities.

THE GRAY MORNING LIGHT

on Monday saw the canal fluttering from the railway station to the royal palace, with myriads of flags and draperies. Every window was hung with lively colors; façades bristled with flagstaffs, and the red, white and green hung over every door. Beautiful velvet and damask curtains were looped along the Gothic balconies, half hiding the richness of the stone work with the graceful folds of the stuff, and furnishing rich lodges for the ladies, whose splendid costumes added to the brilliancy of the decorative effect. Some of the best palaces brought out their store of deep-toned old tapestries and covered the water front with these faded pictures of former Venetian opulence; others draped with bunting and bits of colored cloth the angles and projections from the roof to the water's edge. The surface of the canal palpitated with fruity reflections of all these fluttering bits of lively color, and the shining prow of the gondola seemed to cut through a

RIVER OF LIQUID GEMS.

It was a most exquisitely beautiful scene, and one never to be forgotten. Every craft that could float seemed to be on the canal. Tiny canoes shaped like a fish; long, black, low-lying sandole; the graceful jaunty gondolas, with bright steel prow; ugly old scows and the fishing boats from the Chioggia; huge galleys full of happy Venetians—all these formed an irregular, never-ending procession, that began to move up the Grand Canal long before the Emperor was expected to arrive. All along the rivas, clustered on the steps of the water doors, perched on the mooring posts, crowding the windows and blackening the decks of every craft that was moored to the bank, swarmed a patient, jolly crowd, ready to applaud every novelty in the line of boat or dress, as the multitude of craft skimmed past.

The clouds hung low as the distant boom of a cannon announced the arrival of the imperial train at Mestre, and along the canal swept a low

HUM OF EXPECTATION.

A long silence, broken by occasional chaffing matches with passing boatmen, and the enthusiastic Italians broke out into a louder murmur of applause as cannon announced the meeting of the two sovereigns at the station. The excitement began. People chattered and gesticulated and grew noisy as they do before the curtain rises at the theatre, and they seemed quite in the mood to receive the visitors as they would a new spectacular drama on the stage. Gradually a louder murmur, increasing and drawing nearer, told of the approach of the cortége, and the clouds began to clear away, the surface of the canal reflected a bright sun, and, as the first royal gondolas rounded the last bend of the canal, the splendor of Italian sunshine broke full upon them. Four royal gondolas cleared the way; following closely behind them were seen advancing in state the high gilded bows of the municipal barges or bissone, which formed the special escort of honor. Twelve of these long barges of different colors, each propelled by eight oarsmen dressed in costumes in harmony with the decoration, formed a

CIRCLE OF HONOR

about the royal gondola which bore the two monarchs. This group of barges swept swiftly past like a shining phantom; the water splashed musically, the tinsel decorations rustled in the wind, and from the dazzling confusion of sparkling ornamentation, rich dresses, clouds of banners and ranks of painted oars rising and falling in quick measure, it was difficult to separate the modest black gondala, the nucleus of the galaxy, where the green plume and the white waved side by side. This boat was decorated simply, but with exquisite taste. On each side on the gunwale were blue velvet cushions, with edgings of rich Venetian glass and silken guards held up by silver sea horses. The seat and interior, as well as a large cushion behind the royal personages supporting the gilded regal crown, was covered with fine blue velvet. Silver figures, beautifully modelled, supported the back of the seat, and the four oarsmen were costumed in jackets of blue velvet and breeches of red plush. The decorations of

were too varied and too complex to admit of complete description, but a sketch of a few of the most prominent will give an idea of the whole. All were long, low and narrow, with bow and stern rising to a height of eight or ten feet. A fantastic awning in front covered a rich couch, on which reposed one of the municipal authorities with a speaking trumpet; on the raised stern stood the steersman with his oar. One of the finest barges was painted a delicate blue, marked out with silver, and the oarsmen wore blue, slashed with white. The stern rose in graceful scroll work, and the prow bore various devices and a serrated horn, above which perched a large butterfly, with body of silver and wings of painted gauze. Tropical leaves, with delicate stems and silver fringes, formed a fine-shaped awning behind, which shaded the official couch. Festoons of blue stuff were hung along the sides, looped up with silvered ornaments, and a long train of the same colored cloth swept the water behind. Another barge was purple, with

to match, and with a gilded sphinx on the prow. Still another was green and red, with awnings of gauze; another of delicate lilac hue and yellow; green, magenta and orange, combined in various ways, distinguished the rest. The most striking of all, however, was a long barge, with graceful sweep of the lines, all silvered from bow to stern, and resting on the water like the shining leaf of a silver poplar. The bow was covered with florid decorations, all in silver, surmounted by a great winged dragon, and the stern, from which hung a long train of gauze, was a delicately carved and graceful irregular scroll. The boatmen wore complete suits of silver cloth, with sleeves of blue velvet. Many royal gondolas, with the princes and ministers, followed in the train of this flashing pageant, and the barges of private societies, with oarsmen in mediæval costume, flanked the royal fleet. Behind hurried the multitude of official boats, the consular gondolas and thousands of private craft of every description, forming a train of over a mile in length, filling the Grand Canal in its entire width with a

SOLID, MOVING MASS OF BOATS,

under a cloud of bunting. In this unique fleet, where the scow of the common carrier jostled the velvet-draped gondola of the patrician. An eight-oared boat from the steamship of the Peninsular and Oriental Company, rowed by Chinamen, in white uniforms and washbowl hats, was one of the most prominent features and received applause from every side.

THE CORTEGE.

swept swiftly past the Church of the Salute and the Dogana, and rowed up majestically to the steps of the royal palace, where the distinguished visitors landed. The bissone were drawn up on either side, and in turn the royal gondolas discharged their loads amid the general enthusiasm. For a while the lagoon dock, between the Dogana and the palace, was black with gondolas, hovering about the bissone, but at last these gay barges with their fantastically dressed oarsmen, moved up the Grand Canal one by one, and the display was at an end.

AFTER THE CORTEGE.

The splendid cortége broke up and disappeared in a few moments, like a dream that vanishes and cannot be recalled. The scene of excitement and festivity then became transferred to the Piazza of St. Mark and the Piazzetta extending from the square to the quay, along which troops had been drawn up in double rank and where thousands upon thousands of persons stood waiting to catch a glimpse of the monarchs. In a few moments a vast shout rose up from the thousands on the square, cries of "Viva Italia!" "Viva the Union of Italy and Austria!" greeting the ears of the two monarchs as they appeared at one of the windows of the palace with the Italian princes and Princess Margherita. In a few moments the two monarchs descended to the square to review the troops stationed there and around the Piazzetta, and were greeted with enthusiastic cheers. Then they retired to take dinner at a later hour, while the people still lingered in St. Mark's listening to the music of the two military bands, and patiently waiting in the hope of seeing the monarchs or the most distinguished persons of the Austrian Emperor's suite. Count Andrassy, dressed in the gorgeous display of the Magyar uniform, attracted vast curiosity, and was everywhere followed by crowds of Venetians.

THE ILLUMINATIONS.

At a later hour the scene, though totally different from that on the Grand Canal in the morning, was wonderfully beautiful. Out on the bay two large steamers of the Peninsular and Oriental Company had illuminated their entire lengths with long lines of globes of light; and now and then Bengal fires lighted up their gigantic forms in brilliant and gorgeous hues. From mast to mast hung long lines of Chinese lanterns, forming graceful festoons of stars that glowed silently in the gloom. Further back the windows of the Dogana were illuminated in attractive designs, and out in the middle of the bay, from a temporary wooden platform, thousands of rockets shot up with the noise of a volley of cannon, their fires tinging the waters of the lagoons in glowing colors, until the sparks descended hissing into the waters. The Riva was crowded with people, and the dark gondolas flitted like gloomy omens upon the many-hued waters. And St. Mark's square was a sight of equal attraction, illuminated by thousands of globes of fire, and in the centre a fountain, that had been created over night, as it were by the hands of genii, shooting up a slender spray that was colored by the aid of electric lights in every imaginable hue.

A SCENE OF FAIRY ENCHANTMENT.

The wonderful hues reflected upon the domes of St. Mark and the four horses of bronze; upon the ancient figures of saints and apostles and curious forms that adorn the front of that remarkable edifice; upon the gilded lion and the figure of the Virgin and child on the face of the clock tower, and on the figure of the two sturdy companions in bronze, who strike the hours on the big bell that crowns that curious structure made by Pietro Lombard 400 years ago. Even the pigeons that are so tame and flutter about at your feet so cunningly during the day, seemed to become alarmed with the noise and confusion and the brilliant colors that penetrated to their retreats and in the nooks and crevices of palaces and cathedral about the square, and flew terrified over our heads till long after the lights had been extinguished and the people had retired from the scene of excitement and brilliancy.

THE COURT BALL.

And still later, the grand court ball in the palace, in rooms capable of holding 2,000 persons, while twice that number had been furnished with tickets. In my experience of court and royal balls, of crushes at garderobes and in the hall of dance, the affair last evening will remain unique. It took me just one hour to get up another hour to grow weary of the crush in the ballroom, and another to search for my overcoat, which I have not found yet. In the rooms used as the garderobe there are at this moment—on the morning succeeding the ball—490 gentlemen's overcoats and ladies' wrappers thrown around in inextricable, unnumbered confusion, and when last I looked in I saw about fifty gentlemen kicking over the parcels, swearing in English, French, German, Italian and Hungarian at the portiers and at each other. I hope to succeed in finding my own belongings at a later hour, when the fighting is over. If I do not find my own I intend to take the best that I can find, if it fits, and then advertise for the individual who has got my own. The reason for this confusion is this:—

THE GRAND STAIRCASE,

were distributed indiscriminately to thousands of persons who had perhaps never seen a royal ballroom before in their lives. They made the great crush to get in, and after getting in and finding the society uncongenial, they made as great a rush to get out, overwhelming the garderobians, who lost their heads and left the field and the overcoats to be sought for by their respective owners. The greater part of the guests are shivering to-day. A chilly breeze comes from the sea; but the warm coverings are yet in the palace. To-day, as I write,

THE FETE IS STILL GOING ON.

The review has taken place, and this afternoon there will be an excursion down the bay to the Lida, for the purpose of lunching and seeing the system of dikes. To-night the grand banquet in the palace and the festal representation at the theatre will take place, and to-morrow morning the imperial guest will leave us for his journey on horseback through Dalmatia back to the Kaiserstadt, on the blue, the beautiful Danube.

OBITUARY.

SIR JOSEPH HAWLEY, THE ENGLISH TURFMAN.

A cable telegram from London, under date of yesterday, 20th instant, announces the occurrence of the death of Sir Joseph Hawley, well known in connection with the British turf. The particulars of his demise are not given. The intelligence will cause regret in sporting circles all over the world. Sir Joseph Hawley was, at different times, the proprietor of some of the most celebrated racehorses in Europe, racers from his stables having carried off the great prize of the Derby on more than one occasion, while other animals, his property, have of late been very successful on the French turf. He was a keen sportsman, an excellent calculator, and a generous employer to his jockeys and grooms. Sir Joseph had attained an advanced period of life.

JUDGE ROBERT LEECH.

Judge Robert Leech, formerly of Ohio, and at one time Solicitor of the Sixth Auditor's Office, and recently Auditor of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, died suddenly at his residence in Washington, D. C., yesterday, to the great regret of a numerous circle of personal friends and official associates.

GEORGE HERWEGH, THE GERMAN POET.

[From Galignani's Messenger, April 9.]

A telegraphic despatch from Baden announces the death of M. George Herwegh, a German poet and politician. He first attracted notice by a collection of republican songs issued at Zurich in 1841. In 1848 he was at the head of the French and German workmen who carried on the revolutionary campaign in Baden; he has since lived in retirement, generally residing at Zurich.

MOVEMENTS OF HIS EXCELLENCY

About six o'clock yesterday afternoon His Excellency, President Grant and party, arrived in this city from Boston.

Before leaving the "Hub" His Excellency was called upon at the Revere House by Governor Gaston and United States Marshal Usher. Senator Harwood and two members of the Legislative Committee accompanied the State's guests to the State line.

On the arrival of His Excellency in this city carriages were in waiting to convey him and the other members of the Presidential party to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, when, having made their toilettes in accordance with an invitation to dinner extended and accepted several days ago, they proceeded to the residence of Mr. A. T. Stewart.

The dinner party consisted of His Excellency, the President and Mrs. Grant, Secretary Fish, Colonel and Mrs. Fish, Secretary and Mrs. Belknap, Secretary and Mrs. Robeson, Postmaster-General Jewell and Mr. G. W. Childs.

After dinner the party, with the exception of Secretary Fish, Colonel and Mrs. Fish, returned to the hotel. They will leave for Washington some time during to-day.

THE PAPAL ENVOYS.

Count Marefoschi, Mgr. Roncetti and Dr. Ubaldi, the Papal envoys, were entertained last evening in Jersey City at the residence of Mr. Patrick Farrelly, on Jersey avenue, where a large assemblage of clergymen and prominent laymen were congregated. Among those present were Senator Leon Abbett and lady, County Clerk James M. Brann, J. A. McMasters, M. Mullone, John Garrick, John McAnerney, Miles Tierney and Major Kieley. Among the clergymen were the Rev. P. Corrigan, St. Bridget's, Jersey City; Rev. P. Hennessey, St. Patrick's, Jersey City; Rev. J. De Concilio, St. Michael's, Jersey City; Rev. Father Callan, Rev. James Corrigan, Seton Hall College; Rev. P. McCarthy, Dover; Rev. Father Schneider, Very Rev. Dr. Foley, Baltimore, and many others. The party were entertained to a sumptuous banquet and the festivities continued to a late hour.

The envoys will proceed this morning to Baltimore accompanied by the Very Rev. Dr. Foley and Messrs. McMaster and Kieley, and will sojourn with Archbishop Bayley till that prelate comes to New York to conduct the grand ceremony of conferring the berretta. As soon as that ceremony is concluded, the envoys will visit the new archbishops who are to receive the pallium and will remain a few days with each. They will then make a tour of a few weeks through the South and West, where they are to receive a grand ovation. On their return they will visit some of the Eastern bishops and gather some information of the progress of Catholicity in that section. The envoys are unable to say at present whether their engagements will admit of their visiting Canada. One thing is settled, that Archbishop Bayley will invite them to Seton Hall College, his favorite institution while Bishop of Newark, and which owes so much to him. They will also receive the hospitality of the pastor of the finest Catholic church in the State, Rev. P. Hennessey, a pupil of Dr. Ubaldi while at Rome.

JERSEY CITY, HOBOKEN, HUDSON CITY AND BERGEN REAL ESTATE.

To Let or Lease.

ON Jersey City Heights.
Houses to rent from $300 to $1,000 per annum.
Houses for sale from $3,000 to $8,000, having all modern improvements of gas, water and sewerage.
Distance, in time, from foot of Liberty street, New York, by Newark and New York Railroad, running 60 trains daily, to Bergen avenue station is only 17 minutes, or from foot of Cortlandt street, New York, by Jersey City ferry to horse cars (leaving every five minutes) to the different points on Jersey City Heights, averages only 35 minutes.
Thousands in New York looking for homes are unaware of these facts—facts which an outlay of 10 cents and an hour's time will verify. If you go by the 17 minute route FOYE & CO., at Bergen avenue station, will give you all information; if by 35 minute route apply to S. GARABRANDT, Bergen square, near horse car terminus. HOPKINSON & CO. or VAN WINKLE & CO., at Grand street Junction.

THE STATE CAPITAL

Debate in the Senate on the Governor's Removal Bill.

THE SALE OF LAGER BEER ON SUNDAY.

Comptroller Green Counted Out in the City Money Deposit Bill.

ALBANY, March 20, 1875.

There are a large number of republican politicians here to-night, among them Police Commissioner Disbecker, Commissioner Starr and others. Rumors are prevalent as to future movements on the political chessboard, and New York legislators seem to be on the anxious seat. Sheriff Conner has also arrived. Mr. Dorman B. Eaton appeared before the Committee on Cities to-day and argued against Senator Fox's Special Sessions bill. He contended there was no necessity for an increase of judges, as the present Board could fully discharge the duties incumbent upon them. No decision was arrived at by the committee. Senator Fox feels confident that his measure will again receive the sanction of the Senate.

Senator Gross introduced to-night in the Senate and Mr. Daly in the House a bill providing for the election next November upon the same ticket with the Recorder of the city an additional Judge of the Court of General Sessions, who shall be designated the County Judge and who shall have the same power in all respects as the present City Judge. The Recorder, City Judge and County Judge hereafter to be elected shall hold office for fourteen years respectively. Two branches of the Court of General Sessions shall be held each month, except in July and August, when one branch only may be held, in the discretion of the Judge. The bill also provides for the appointment of an additional Assistant District Attorney and four court officers. On motion of Mr. Husted the bill was ordered to a third reading in the Assembly.

The contest over the Removal bill was again renewed to-day in the Senate. Speeches were made by Senators Cole, Parmenter, Laning, Madden, Jacobs and others. All phases of the proposed enactment were discussed. It seems rather unfortunate the bill should have been originally introduced as giving absolute power to Governor Tilden in the removal of State officers. The first flush and excitement of the Canal Message has now entirely passed. People begin to look at matters in a calmer and more philosophic light. Had the measure been presented two or three days after the Canal Message was sent in, there might have been a probability of its passage. Politicians, like other human beings, are influenced by the popular sentiment, and Senators and Assemblymen at that time would fear to oppose almost any bill framed by the Governor. But now the scene has changed. The tempestuous ardor caused by the Governor's Message has cooled down, and a strong probability exists that when the Removal bill becomes a law it will be so shorn of its original proportions as to be scarcely recognizable.

THE DEPOSIT BILL.

The fight as to what officials shall designate the banks and rate of interest on public moneys in the city of New York was concluded to-day. The original bill, as passed through the Assembly, empowered the Mayor and Chamberlain to perform this duty. The Senate added Comptroller Green, and made a concurrent vote necessary, fixing the rate of interest at not less than three per cent. This action resulted in the appointment of a conference committee from both houses, when it was agreed that a majority vote only was required in designating depositories, and the lowest rate of interest was fixed at 2½ per cent. Governor Tilden's signature is all that is now required for the bill. A majority vote in this matter by Mayor Wickham and Chamberlain Tappan leaves Comptroller Green out in the cold.

THE SUNDAY LAGER BEER QUESTION.

Mr. Worth's (of Kings) bill to allow the sale of lager beer on Sundays was to-day killed in the Assembly. The measure received fifty-nine votes, within six of the required number. Mr. Worth moved to reconsider the vote and that the motion be laid upon the table, which was carried. A chance, therefore, still exists for the passage of the bill.

WITNESSES BEFORE POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

Mr. Waehner to-day introduced a bill by which the Police Commissioners, in cases of investigation before their Board, can compel the attendance of witnesses.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

SENATE.

ALBANY, April 20, 1875.

BILLS PASSED.

Making all the charters of savings banks uniform.

Relative to claims and legal proceedings against the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the city of New York, it prohibits the appointment of referees.

The Senate concurred in the report of the Conference Committee on the so-called New York interest bill, giving certain officers power to designate New York banks in which daily balances are to be deposited.

Relative to improving the streets and avenues in the city of New York, directing that it all be done by contract.

On motion of Mr. BOOTH, the vote on the bill relative to the Court of Special Sessions of the Peace in and for the city of New York, was reconsidered, and the bill recommitted to the Committee on Cities.

The Removal bill coming up, Mr. LANING read from the Governor's Message relative to the oversight of the Convention of 1846 in not providing for the removal for misconduct or malversation in office of all State officers, and said that this sacred duty now devolved upon the Legislature. The bill now before the Senate should pass, as its provisions were wise and in harmony with the constitution. The amendment offered by Mr. Jacobs proposed to invest the Governor with autocratic powers. The present Executive is wise, but he will not remain for all time in the Executive Chamber; and it is, therefore, not advisable to place too much power in the hands of some one who may follow him. It was never the intention of the framers of the constitution to place such powers in the hand of any one man. They carefully guarded against any such provision, and prescribed the breadth of the Governor's power in the removal of Sheriffs, Coroners, &c. So careful have the people been of their rights that no commissioned officer of the militia can be removed except the Senate consent to such action. The proposition to give this great power into the hands of one man is looked upon with dismay by the people. Judges of the Court of Appeals can be removed only by a two-thirds vote of both houses of the Legislature. We should make such laws as are in harmony with the provisions of the constitution. The bill reported by the Judiciary Committee (Senate bill No. 211) is in accordance with the constitution and should become a law. It gives the Governor power to suspend certain State officers, but does not permit him to remove, try, condemn and disgrace by summary removal. He (Mr. Laning) had confidence in the Senate and believed that it would always carry out the wishes of the people in voting for the removal of any and all persons proved to be guilty of malversation in office.

Mr. JACOBS replied briefly, citing the action of the Legislature of 1847 in giving power to the Governor to remove State Prison officials. After years of struggling the State has elected an honest man, who will carry on this war against corruption if we, as representatives of the people, strengthen his hands and give him full power. This power and responsibility must be placed somewhere, and he believed that it should be put in the hands of the Governor.

Mr. COLE said that the people of this country, in their constitution, have guarded carefully against giving despotic powers to any one man. The provision contained in Mr. Jacobs' resolution to give full power of jury and judge to any one man could not be thought of. It was obnoxious to the spirit of our institutions. He could see no reason why the Governor seeks this power. It is contrary to his promises in his circular of October, 1870. In that circular he denounced this idea of centralization of power.

Mr. RAY said he was surprised to find the Senator from the Third (Mr. Jacobs) advocating such a monstrous measure as this centralization project.

The Senate then took a recess.

After further discussion the committee rose and reported progress.

In the Senate Mr. Jacobs renewed his motion to have his amendment made, but it failed by the following vote:—

YEAS—Messrs. Fox, Gross, Jacobs, Lowery, Middleton, Parmenter, Robertson, Tobey—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Booth, Cox, Cole, Dickinson, Dow, King, Laning, Lord, Madden, McGowan, Ray, Selkreg, Thompson, Wood, Woodin—15.

The bill was then, on motion, made the special order for to-morrow morning.

EVENING SESSION.

The Senate reassembled at twenty minutes past seven P. M.

The PRESIDENT presented a resolution adopted by the Canal Board, March 31, 1875, requesting the Legislature to amend chapter 399 of the Laws of 1874, making an appropriation for the enlargement of the Champlain Canal and for the construction of new work upon and extraordinary repairs of the canals of this State, so as to authorize the Auditor to pay out of said appropriation so much as shall be necessary to pay for the completion of the Cohoes locks, not exceeding $30,000, with interest; also so much as shall be necessary to pay for the enlargement work at Whitehall, not exceeding $132,000, and also that vertical walls may be built in place of slope walls wherever the Canal Board may deem fit for the best interests of the State.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

By Mr. GROSS—To increase the efficiency of the Court of General Sessions in the city and county of New York by providing that at the next general election there shall be elected an additional Judge, who shall have the same authority and power as the present City Judge. This officer shall be designated County Judge and hold office for fourteen years, at an annual salary the same as paid the present City Judge. Two branches of the Court of General Sessions shall be held each Monday, and four Assistant District Attorneys may be appointed.

By Mr. KING—Amending chapter 522 of the Laws of 1860 relative to the Harbor of New York, giving the Harbor Commissioners power to remove buildings or obstructions from any bulkhead or pier.

Adjourned.

AMUSEMENTS.

MISS LINDA GILBERT'S CONCERT AT THE HIPPODROME.

This lady gave a concert last evening, for the benefit of the Gilbert Library and Prisoner's Aid Fund, at Barnum's Hippodrome, the programme being as follows:—

1. Overture, "Egmont" ..... Beethoven
2. "Round About the Starry Throne," Samson .. Handel
   Soli and chorus.
3. Aria, from "William Tell" ..... Rossini
   Mr. A. Bischoff.
4. "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark" ..... Bishop
   Solo and flute obligato.
   Mrs. P. D. Gulager and Mr. F. Rietzel.
5. Choral Fantasie ..... Beethoven
   For piano solo, chorus, soli and orchestra.
   Mrs. P. D. Gulager, Miss A. Drasdil;
   Messrs. Bischoff, Remmertz, the full chorus, and piano solo by S. B. Mills.
6. Prelude—Lohengrin ..... Wagner
7. "Oh! mio Fernando"—La Favorita ..... Donizetti
   Mrs. P. D. Gulager.
8. "Muttersprache"—Male Chorus ..... Engelsberg
   The Arion Society.
9. Lexington Battle Hymn ..... Dr. L. Damrosch
   Full chorus and orchestra.
10. Duo—"Quis est Homo"—Stabat Mater ..... Rossini
    Mrs. P. D. Gulager and Miss A. Drasdil.
11. "Honor and Arms"—Samson ..... Handel
    Mr. F. Remmertz.
12. The Hallelujah Chorus—Messiah ..... Handel

This was certainly a very ambitious bill and one calculated to excite interest in the musical mind; but the immense size of the building, the bad location of the stage in an acoustic point of view, and the sparse attendance threw a damper over the concert.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES.

There will be given a special matinée of the "Jolie Parfumeuse," at the Lyceum to-day, at half-past one P. M.

Mr. Frederick B. Warde, who has just returned from Europe, is to sustain the part of Leicester, in "Amy Robsart," during the engagement of Miss Neilson at Booth's. Miss Minnie Conway, recently of Ford's Theatre, Baltimore, and formerly of Daly's Fifth Avenue Theatre, is to play the part of Queen Elizabeth. The cast of the piece is to be strengthened in every way and the choruses are said to be very effective.

Mr. James Morrissey, the popular treasurer of the Fifth Avenue Theatre, takes his benefit this afternoon. The bill is exceedingly attractive. Mlle. Aimée will sing, for the first time in English, on this occasion, a bright and piquant song—"Pretty as a Picture." It will afford the favorite opéra-bouffist ample opportunity for the display of that peculiar talent which has rendered her a general favorite with the public. The demand for seats promises a crowded house.

William Smith, Jr., a colored man, made complaint yesterday before Commissioner John I. Davenport that he was refused tickets for seats in Booth's Theatre on Monday evening to witness the performance of the pageantry of "Henry V." In his affidavit Smith states that upon presenting himself at the box office window in a line of purchasers, otherwise composed of white men, and calling for two secured seats, the treasurer informed him that all the places in the parquet and parquet circle were taken, and that in fact no seats were to be had, and advised him to go to the Sixth avenue entrance of the theatre, where he would find accommodations specially provided for his race.

A TERRIBLE MURDER.

FATAL QUARREL BETWEEN BROTHERS-IN-LAW IN BROOKLYN—DESPERATE STRUGGLE FOR LIFE—A TENEMENT HOUSE QUARREL, STIMULATED BY INTOXICATION.

As Officer Keenan, of the Third Brooklyn precinct, was patrolling in Columbia street at nine o'clock last night he was informed by a boy that a man was dying in Felix McGee's liquor store, at the corner of Hamilton avenue and Rapelye street. The officer rapped for assistance, and, in company with Officers Baird and Riley, entered the saloon, where they found Bernard Quigley, aged thirty years, lying on the floor and COVERED WITH BLOOD.

An ambulance was summoned, and the man was removed to the Long Island College Hospital. Subsequent inquiry by the police revealed the fact that Quigley had been stabbed by John Myers, his brother-in-law, at the latter's place of abode, No. 70 Rapelye street. Quigley, who resides at Union and Columbia streets, called upon Myers early last evening, and, in company with him, drank a large quantity of beer. Myers' sister is Quigley's wife, and when they had grown somewhat boisterous from the effects of the beer they became involved in a family quarrel. They were very abusive. Quigley made an uncomplimentary reference to Myers' wife, and, as alleged by the latter, struck him in the face. Myers returned the blow, knocking Quigley to the floor, and as the latter regained his feet Myers drew a large horn-handled clasp knife and opened the blade. His antagonist was about to resume the fight when Myers sprung upon him, seizing him by the throat. He then repeatedly, inflicting a number of terrible wounds, from which the blood flowed very profusely. The injured man fell to the floor, without being able to cry for assistance and his assailant deliberately wiped the bloody blade of the knife on the table cloth and returned it to his pocket. He then lifted his opponent on his shoulders and carried him to the liquor store, informing the bartender that "he has got cut in a little quarrel, and I am going to fetch a doctor for him." The wounded man remained on the sawdust-covered floor until the arrival of the officers, and was taken to the hospital. An examination of convinced Surgeon Jones that his recovery was impossible. The most dangerous of the injuries were a deep wound in the right side and a long, ragged cut in the shoulder. It is believed that the wound in the side penetrated to the lung. Up to midnight Quigley had been unconscious, and at that time the surgeons said he was dying of his wounds and could not live till morning. Surgeon Jones said he had "hardly a drop of blood in his veins."

PLUNGED THE KNIFE INTO HIM

While Officers Bond and Riley were assisting in the removal of Quigley to the hospital, Officer Keenan proceeded to the house where the tragedy occurred, in the hope of arresting Myers. The building is a two story frame tenement, and the Myers family occupied an apartment on the upper floor. The hallways, banisters and the carpet in Myers' room were drenched in blood; chairs and tables were upset and there was every indication of a TERRIFIC STRUGGLE.

The officer searched the house, but was unable to find Myers. He then went through the yards and alleys in the vicinity, and in a few moments came upon the object of his search in a yard on Cole street. When Myers saw the officer he dropped to the ground to avoid observation, but was arrested and taken to the Butler street station house, where he was questioned by Sergeant Cadden. The bloodstained knife was found in his pocket. He claimed that the stabbing was done in self-defence. The prisoner was then locked up, pending an examination.

Quigley was a longshoreman, and had been in this country but a short time. His murderer is employed as a fireman on one of the elevators at the Atlantic Dock.

REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

A meeting of this central committee was held last evening at Republican Hall, Thirty-third street and Broadway, for organization. There was a large attendance of delegates. Mr. Joel W. Mason presided. After the call of the roll the report of the Committee on Contested Seats was submitted. In brief, all the delegates elected from the Third, Fourth, Sixth, Eighth, Twenty-first and West Farms districts were admitted. When the Eighth district was called Mr. Atwood stated that the evidence as read relative to the contested seats from that part of the city was entirely different from that previously submitted, and that if justice were not done he purposed, on behalf of the republicans from that district, to appeal to the next State Convention. It was decided, however, by a unanimous vote, to allow the delegates declared to be elected to retain their seats. The report of the committee suggested several reforms, including a strict adherence to the provisions of the constitution respecting the election of members. The rules, it was submitted, must be kept pure in order to secure proper returns. This report was unanimously adopted and the following officers were subsequently elected without opposition:—Chairman, Joel W. Mason; First Vice President, Jacob N. Patterson; Second Vice President, Pierre Van Wyck; Treasurer, Thomas Murphy; Secretaries, George W. Leon and W. Herring, of West Farms; Sergeant-at-Arms, James G. Armstrong. The committee then adjourned.

NINTH REGIMENT RECEPTION.

Last evening the officers and members of the Ninth regiment, N.G.S.N.Y., afforded their friends an opportunity of enjoying themselves in gala style. Mayor William H. Wickham, accompanied by his "chief advisers," appeared upon the scene about ten P. M. The upper or drill room was crowded by friends of the regiment, and the band, under the leadership of Professor Downing, supplied music of an order excelled by no band in the National Guard. Colonel Hitchcock, commanding regiment, and Captains Coltman, Booth and Aspell did all in their power to render the stay of their guests enjoyable. Among the distinguished gentlemen present we noticed General Hendrickson, Colonel McDonagh, Colonel McGometry, Colonel Herts and Colonel Kellett. The festivities were continued until a late hour.

MARITIME MISCELLANY.

☞ See cable news.

We are under obligations to the purser of the steamer South America, from Rio Janeiro, &c, for promptly forwarding our files and despatches.

STEAMER OLYMPIA (Br), Young, hence 20th for Glasgow, touched on the bar on account of the unusually low tide, but got off and proceeded.

STEAMER C B SANFORD, which arrived at Bucksport 16th inst from Bermuda, went there last fall, where she has been engaged in towing and other employment that might offer, and has done a fair business.

BARK DE MARCHI (Ital), Schiaffino, from Leghorn for New York (before reported), received severe damage by collision, and put into St Tropez, France. She was towed back to Genoa (not Leghorn) April 4. The bark Lincoln, Thorn, has been chartered to take forward the cargo.

BARK NARRAGANSETT, Hagar, from Charleston for Liverpool, which put into St Thomas in distress, had repaired pumps and was reloading cargo April 13.

BARK LYDIA (Br), Sewall, from Darien for Liverpool, which put into Norfolk in distress, was reloading slowly April 17. The leak, it is said, still continues.

BARK DAWN, Williams, from Boston for Arica (before reported), put into Rio Janeiro March 21, and was repairing on the 25th.

BRIG JACINTO (Br), Fleming, from Brunswick, Ga, Feb 6, for Rio Janeiro with a cargo of pitch pine lumber, experienced several strong gales of wind after crossing the Gulf Stream, which strained the vessel so that she started leaking badly; but Capt F kept on, although obliged to have the pumps going most of the time, and experiencing very strong northeast tradewinds, in which he was obliged to run the vessel off the course sometimes for days before the wind and sea, so as to keep her from getting waterlogged; March 16, concluded to keep off for Para for repairs, it being the nearest port, as the vessel was making water at the rate of 15 inches per hour, and all hands exhausted with pumping and not able to keep her free with any sail on when by the wind; arrived at Para 29th March, where a survey was held on the vessel next day, and was recommended to discharge cargo for further examination. [Another account says the brig would be sold.]

SCHR JACOB E RIDGWAY, at Philadelphia from Sagua, lost jibboom and foretopmast in a NNW gale 14th inst, in lat 35, lon 72.

SCHR CHAS CARROLL, from Philadelphia for Boston, previously reported ashore 19th on L'Hommedieu Shoal, was hauled off same day by steamer Martha's Vineyard and proceeded.

SCHR JANETTE T HIBBARD (Br), which was ashore at Meagher's Beach, NS, last January, went on the marine railway at Halifax, April 16, for repairs. The after part of the keel and her forefoot were found to be knocked off. She was badly chafed in one spot under the bottom, and several of her planks were started.

SCHR WELAKA, of Belfast, Me, which was ashore on Cape Ann and towed to Boston Saturday for repairs, leaks badly and the steam pump is kept constantly going to keep her free of water. She will have to go on the marine railway for repairs. She has several holes in her bilge and some of her timbers broken, and her bottom planking badly chafed. She had 125 tons granite on board when she went ashore, which was discharged before she was pulled off. Damage to vessel estimated at $5,000.

ST THOMAS, April 13—The steam pump brought from New York for ship City of Brooklyn does not work. It fails to clear the ship within five feet of water. Another pump has been brought here, and they are now fitting it.

LAUNCHES—At Bath, Me, Messrs Goss & Sawyer will launch a ship of 1,100 tons in June, for parties in Massachusetts; Goss, Sawyer & Packard will soon launch a bark of 1,000 tons; E A Sewall will launch a ship of 1,500 tons in August; Wm Rogers is about ready to launch a ship of 1,450 tons measurement, which has been sold to Pope, Talbot & Co, of Boston; Alex Robinson has two schrs nearly ready to launch; Hagan & Thurlow are building a French-rigged bark of 1,200 tons, for Sayward & Co, of Boston, to be commanded by Capt Samuel T Donnell, of Somerville.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

BARBADOS—CHANGE OF LIGHT AT SOUTH POINT.

With reference to the notice dated 27th ult, of the establishment of a new light at Ragged Point, a further notice is hereby given that upon the exhibition of that light, on and after May 1 next, the light at South Point lighthouse, on the southern coast of this island, will be changed from a white into a red light, the time of revolution remaining the same—viz, one minute.

The shore light at Needham's Point will remain the same as at present—fixed, showing red to the southward of west and as a bright light to the northward of west.

By order of the Governor,
A F GORE, Colonial Secretary.
Bridgetown, April 2, 1875.

PROPOSALS.

TENDERS WILL BE RECEIVED BY THE UNDERsigned, up to noon on the 27th inst., for the Heating of the Toronto General Hospital, in the most approved manner, according to modern rules for combining free ventilation and warmth. Each tender to be accompanied by complete specifications, stating the manner in which it is proposed to carry out the work, and a guarantee to be provided for in the contract that the system is capable of heating the wards to an average temperature of 75 degrees, and the corridors to 70 degrees, when the thermometer outside stands at zero. Until this test has been applied, a drawback of 20 per cent on the contract price will be retained. If steam is used the coils and returns must be so arranged that they will be noiseless. Plans of the building may be seen at the office of the Hospital Trust and the building itself, on application to the House Surgeon, between the hours of 9 and 10 A. M. and 2 and 4 P. M. daily.
J. W. BRENT, Secretary, 88 King street East.
